General Strike Against President Paralyzes City; Police Fight Mob

PANAMA, Panama (AP)—Shooting and mob attacks broke out in this capital today during a general strike against the president which paralyzed the whole tense city.

The radio station which has been supporting President Arnulfo Arias was attacked by a mob. Eyewitness said equipment was destroyed.

The attack, the witnesses said, was made under fire from the radio station in which some persons were wounded.

Police went into action to round up persons carrying firearms, and at the same time truckloads of supporters of Arias began arriving in the city from outlying areas. They rode government trucks.

May Get Command

Lt. Col. J. K. Mahoney of New Westminster who won the V.C. in Italy during the Second World War is to be named to command one of the Infantry battalions in Canada's new 27th Brigade destined to serve in Europe, according to Ottawa rumors. Lt. Col. Mahoney is currently head of army public relations.

Tariff Pacts May Mean Cut In Living Cost

Lower prices for many household goods imported from the U.S., including foods, may result from the tariff concessions exchanged with the U.S. at the recently concluded Torquay conference.

Confectionery, grapefruit juice, household furniture and some electrical appliances will be admitted at lower tariffs. L. W. Beebe, vice-president of Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. in Toronto said that lower costs resulting from lowered tariff changes on food would undoubtedly mean lower prices in stores.

This was the most immediate result on the average citizen.

The tariff concessions generally are hailed by spokesmen for B.C. industries as being of great advantage to the province's basic economy.

TO OPEN MARKET
Among the tariffs reduced are on lead and zinc, which B.C. mines are producing in ever-increasing quantities as mines are being reopened.

Lumber industry spokesmen considered that the 20 per cent reduction in the U.S. tariff on Douglas fir plywood would open that market to the B.C. manufacturers. "The only trouble is that at the moment we have more orders than we can handle," said one lumber official.

The new tariff agreement, however, found its critics as well. The Rubber Association of Canada believes that the reduced tariff may have a serious effect on the Canadian rubber industry.

Furniture manufacturers also believe that the lower tariff will make it difficult for them to compete with the large U.S. firms.

Tehran Denies Red Oil Move

TEHRAN (CP)—Iran disclosed today—and denied—a British charge that the recent nationalization of British-controlled Iranian oil resources was a Communist act.

The denial was made in a diplomatic note to Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison of Britain, in which Prime Minister F. Mohammed Mossadegh said that the take-over of the giant Anglo-Iranian Oil Company will stop discontent in Iran and lead to better relations with Britain.

The general strike followed the President's switching of constitutions in a move to give himself broad powers against what he called the threat of Communist subversion in this country, a vital link in the western world's defence system because of the location here of the Panama Canal.

Arias and the police army which put him in power appeared on the verge of an open break, although both factions expressed hope of averting bloodshed.

The general strike was 100 per cent effective.

Before daybreak the show windows of seven business establishments were smashed. Buses which attempted to make their runs were overturned.

Following a meeting with the "strong man" national police chief, Col. Jose Antonio Remon, a police delegation told the President it wants to retain the 1946 constitution. Arias, in a decree Monday night, swapped it for the 1941 national charter written during an earlier term.

Arias announced earlier last night that he will call a plebiscite in which the people can decide which constitution they prefer.

Observers felt, however, that the stand for the 1941 charter he expressed to the police group might cancel this projected ploy.

Arias' decree also has dissolved the National Assembly, suspended the right of habeas corpus and put the country's top courts on a temporary basis. He charged subversive plotting by opposition leaders and the outlawed Communist Party.

64,055 Casualties

WASHINGTON (AP)—Announced United States casualties in Korea reached 64,055 today, an increase of 1,256 over the preceding week. The total includes 9,765 killed, 43,350 wounded and 10,940 missing in action.

Nfld. Wharf Collapses

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—A section of a shipping company's wharf collapsed here today, throwing 3,000 sacks of cement and several cases of furniture into the water.

El Salvador Earthquake Toll Now Set At 1,200

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP)—The death toll from El Salvador's weekend earthquake today rose to 1,200 persons as news reports filtered into the capital from isolated regions in the central South American republic.

The injured were reckoned at 4,000 or more.

With many villages in the quake area still cut off, casualty figures were incomplete. The government earlier estimated that 1,000 persons died in the eastern part of the country.

President Oscar Osorio Tuesday night proclaimed martial law in the devastated region. Aid was being rushed to the injured and homeless.

The army continued to evacuate survivors from the region—a 60-square-mile zone in the rich coffee-plantation belt close to the Pacific coast.

Newspapers reported a move to make a vast funeral pyre of the quake area, to prevent the spread of disease. Local authorities hotly opposed this.

Survivors flee town damaged by earthquake. Residents of Jucupa, El Salvador, who survived series of earthquakes which virtually destroyed town, flee scene of destruction. Estimated 1,000 persons killed, thousands more injured. Quakes rocked entire southeastern section of Central American country. (AP Wirephoto.)

MEN OF ATHABASKAN TO RECEIVE GREAT WELCOME

The destroyer Athabaskan, last of the three original Canadian fighting ships to be relieved after service in Korea, will be extended a royal reception on her return to Esquimalt May 17.

The Athabaskan will dock at H.M.C.S. Naden jetty at 2:30 in the afternoon. Relatives and friends of men aboard and members of the general public will be permitted entry into the establishment to watch the ship berth.

Athabaskan already is on her way home. The ship, nicknamed the "Little Mo" after operations in company with the U.S. battleship Missouri, is returning after sailing more than 60,000 operational miles in 202 days at sea.

SPANISH STRIKERS DRAW POLICE FIRE

Crowd Protesting Cost Of Living Hurls Defiant At Governor; Five Wounded In Brief Fight

PAMPLONA, Spain (AP)—Police fired on a crowd of strikers demonstrating today against the high cost of living. Five were severely wounded.

Five workers taking part in a general strike which has paralyzed this industrial city were arrested as "instigators" of the stoppage, which began Tuesday.

Israel-Syria Battle Halts On U.N. Order

Damascus Claims Truce Violated

TEL AVIV (AP)—Quiet prevailed on the troubled Israeli-Syrian frontier today after an order from the United Nations Security Council demanding an immediate cease-fire.

There was some pre-dawn skirmishing from the demilitarized area north of the Sea of Galilee, but 12 hours after issuance of the cease-fire there was no renewal of hostilities on a major scale, an Israeli military spokesman said.

The spokesman added: "It is now up to the United Nations to see that the Syrians leave the demilitarized area, which is Israel's territory."

The Syrians say they have no troops in the demilitarized area. They do not recognize Israel's claim to the territory. Dispatches from Damascus accused the Israelis of "new aggression" in the region.

It was claimed by Syria that Israeli had heavily bombed the Sharmeh region just after the United Nations had ordered the cease-fire.

Cigaret Sales Down

TORONTO (CP)—Cigaret sales have dropped more than 10 per cent here since last month, when tax increases pushed the price to 40 cents for a package of 20, tobacco dealers here say.

Bus Drivers May Ask For Strike Vote

Application for a strike vote by drivers of Veteran Stages Ltd. may be made shortly by the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America, Division 109, it was learned today.

At present, the two parties involved in a long, drawn-out dispute over wages are lined up against one another on the basis of recommendations handed down last week by a three-man conciliation board.

Officials of the firm have declared themselves ready to implement a minority report of the board, giving drivers a 10 per cent wage increase, while the union has served notice it will settle for the board's majority report, providing a 15-cent-an-hour wage increase, half the cost of maintaining hospital insurance and M.S.A. coverage, and certain benefits retroactive to the first of the year.

Claim Reds Executed 50,000 In One Month

TAIPEH (AP)—The Nationalist Chinese Defence Ministry today said Chinese Reds had executed 50,000 persons in the South China province of Kwangsi in a single month.

Recruiting Secret

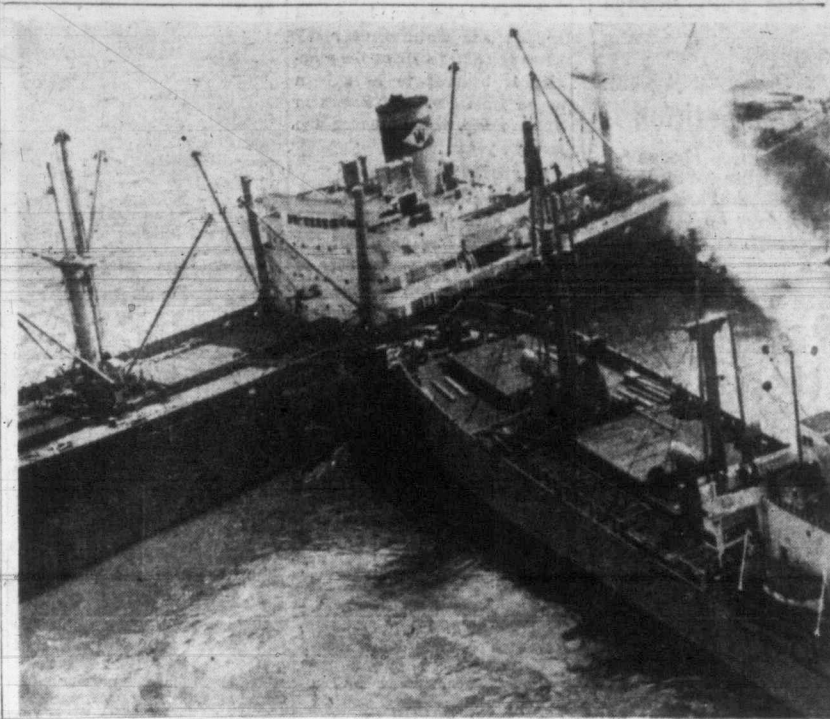

VANCOUVER (CP)—A secrecy order on recruiting figures was established by the army here today.

All figures on army enlistments must now come from Ottawa, said a spokesman at district headquarters.

The army now is enlisting volunteers for the European brigade, the home force and the Korean Brigade.

No explanation was given for the secrecy order issued from Ottawa.

Marshall Says MacArthur's Plan May Have Deprived U.S. Of Allies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defence Secretary George C. Marshall said today Gen. Douglas MacArthur's quarrel with Korean war policy created "uneasiness" among American allies and threatened to leave the United States "going it alone" there.

But Marshall denied under questioning from Senators that the allies brought about MacArthur's removal. He said: "They gave no expression of that kind even remotely that I can recall pertaining to his relief."

MacArthur's removal was necessary, Marshall said, because his statements raised the issue of "what voice spoke from this country in the matter of foreign policy."

Earlier the Defence Secretary said no Japanese are serving with United Nations troops in Korea largely because a Chinese-Russian defence pact is aimed at Japan.

He implied the fear was that using Japanese against the Chinese Communists might bring the Russians into the Korean war.

Marshall was in the witness chair for the third day before the Senate armed services and foreign relations committees. They are inquiring into the ouster of Gen. Douglas MacArthur as Far Eastern commander and the policy differences back of his removal.

Senator Harry Byrd (Dem., Va.) brought up the question of the Japanese. Some lawmakers have been contending that Japanese volunteers ought to be permitted to serve with the U.N. forces.

As Marshall resumed the witness stand, Senator William F. Knowland (Rep., Calif.) said Republicans will demand a "clearer answer" on how the U.S. government expects to end the Korean war.

Marshall testified Tuesday that he expects eventual victory will be won by inflicting "terrific casualties" on the Chinese Communists.

Dancer Hospitalized

Joan Blair Casparis, 33, Hollywood dancer, is in serious condition in Los Angeles hospital today as result of overdose of sleeping potion which police said she took at hotel last night. Price Too Big For Big Four WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Dean Acheson said today Russia is trying to manoeuvre the western powers into suspending their defence program but declared that is too high a price to pay for a Big Four meeting.

Acheson made clear at a press conference that the U.S. has about come to the end of its rope in suggesting possible formulas for an agreement at the Big Four deputy talks at Paris which would make possible a session of the Foreign Ministers.

He has urged an economic and naval blockade of China, bombing of Chinese bases and supply lines which support the Communists in Korea, and use of Chinese Nationalist troops.

MONTREAL BANDITS GIVEN 17 LIFE TERMS IN JAIL

MONTREAL (CP)—Kenneth and Albert Wingfield, known as the kissing bandits, kissed society goodbye today for the rest of their lives.

They were sentenced by Judge Oscar Gagnon to 17 consecutive life terms for 17 armed robberies in Montreal earlier this year. They pleaded guilty to all charges.

Their woman companion, Louise Montambault, 23-year-old unmarried mother of two girls, was sentenced to six concurrent two-year terms.

All three wept as they pleaded guilty to multiple charges of conspiracy and hold-up.

The Montambault woman pleaded for clemency, claiming she had been drugged by the brothers when she helped them commit a bank hold-up.

Closure of two Johnson Street rooming houses within 60 days on grounds that they do not measure up to civic sanitary, fire and building regulations will be asked of City Council, Union Board of Health disclosed at a meeting today.

From 25 to 30 people will be affected.

The two rooming houses are at 515 Johnson and at 551 Johnson.

The Delhi Hotel was also discussed. W. A. Cameron, owner, agreed to meet with city sanitary, fire and building officials to learn what is needed to bring the building to standard.

He will advise the health board what action he is prepared to take.

G. Lloyd Smith, sanitary inspector, who earlier this year led a comprehensive housing survey of the city recommended with Fire Chief R. T. Brindle and Building Inspector J. W. Osterink in a report April 10 that 60-day closure notices be given in certain cases.

Price Too Big For Big Four. WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Dean Acheson said today Russia is trying to manoeuvre the western powers into suspending their defence program but declared that is too high a price to pay for a Big Four meeting.

312 Fighter Planes Blast Big Airfield

TOKYO (AP)—More than 300 Allied planes today ripped into part of the Chinese Communist Air Force in the biggest air raid of the Korean war.

They blasted and burned Sinuiju airfield in northwest Korea, where the Chinese were reported gathering their Russian-made planes for the first big Red air strike.

Seventy to 100 planes had been spotted on the ground there. The attack was made by 312 fighter planes.

Eighty Russian-type jet fighters were parked on an airfield at Antung, Manchuria, across the Yalu River from Sinuiju. Fifty rose.

But, Lt. Gen. Earle E. Partridge, U.S. Fifth Air Force commander, said only 13 crossed the Yalu. A few air-fights flared.

However, Pilot Robert Dixon said the Red jets were out in strength.

"It's a massacre," he said, "and they are being massacred, not us."

Field dispatches said one Russian-type MIG-15 was probably shot down and another damaged. One U.S. plane was damaged.

The big blow at Sinuiju followed front-line reports that Chinese were angered at Russian failure to supply tanks or planes for their spring offensive. The air show completely overshadowed ground operations. Red troops continued to pull back from armored Allied jabs.

TANKS AND R.O.K.
South Koreans advanced the western end of the U.N. line two more miles Wednesday. They were helped by tanks that literally over-ran 14 Red guns. Other South Koreans moving up on the east seized control of the supply highway between Hongchon and the Red base at Inje.

Allied intelligence reports said about 70 to 100 camouflaged planes had been massed in Sinuiju revetments. The long-expected Red air strike was believed imminent.

Then the Allies struck. American and South African fighter planes hit in two waves.

The first wave swept through heavy flak, rocketing, bombing and strafing anti-aircraft guns.

BLANKET OF NAPALM
The second wave hit revetments and the airfield with high-explosive, fragmentation and fire bombs.

"I don't think the Reds will fly any more planes off that strip," said Capt. H. L. Williams. The napalm (jelled gasoline fire bombs) covered the whole place.

Returning pilots reported they hit the revetments squarely. But they couldn't see whether they sheltered planes — "they were so well camouflaged," one officer said.

"We watched the build-up of enemy planes in this area," said Maj. Carl C. Carlson, intelligence officer, "and when it got so far we had to hit it. We think a good job was done."

A Associated Press correspondent William Barnard reported no U.N. planes or airmen were lost. The damaged Red jet was hit by long-range fire.

Russian Press Claims U.S. Occupied Iceland
MOSCOW (AP)—The Russian press today headlined the arrival of United States troops in Iceland and declared their presence amounts to occupation of the republic.

(The first contingent of American forces—208 men—landed in Iceland Monday to help defend the North Atlantic Pact country.)

Pats Roar Into Action Atop Great Patton Tanks

Maj. P. Tighe, Victoria, Says Patrol One Of Unit's Most Successful; Names Made Public

Since the start of the abortive Chinese spring offensive in Korea late in April, no mention of Canadian troops, the Princess Patricia's or of individual names was permitted to pass through the light censorship. Other United Nations units had been identified, but only now can it be disclosed that the "United Nations mountain troops" who stopped the Chinese cold on one sector of the front were the Princess Patricias.

By BILL BOSS

WEST CENTRAL SECTOR, Korea (CP)—The Patricias are in action again.

Riding atop great American Patton tanks, a patrol moved deep into enemy territory Tuesday in an action that earned the commendation of Maj. Pat Tighe of Victoria, commanding the Patricias during the absence of Battalion Commander Lt.-Col. J. R. Stone who was at rear headquarters.

It was the first time that the Patricias had worked so closely with tanks. From the success of Tuesday's operation, it clearly will not be the last.

The foray produced four Chinese prisoners, dug out from a well-fortified two-room bunker at the point of the bayonet. They came out without a fight, making no use of the potato-masher grenades with which they were plentifully supplied.

"They seemed scared," said Pte. Pat Cullen, of Weyburn, Sask.

The patrol was led by Capt. Wally Mills, of Winnipeg, who last April 24 at the start of the Chinese offensive, played a heroic role in stopping the enemy drive on the Canadians' sector.

That night, the enemy hordes flung themselves upon the Canadians' positions, moving, heedless of losses, literally within inches of the defenders. The ammunition of some forward units ran out but the line held, though the defenders were outflanked and encircled.

That night, too, Capt. Mills fought his first action as a company commander. When his men's ammunition ran out, he ordered them into all trenches and called artillery and mortar fire directly upon his position.

For three hours, while the massed fire of three regiments of artillery and a battalion of mortars rained upon his front, Mills directed the fire. The enemy broke and gave way.

(Boss, in his cables at the time, had held up the enemy at that point. The action, though on a short front, was important in slowing and finally stopping the Chinese advance.

(Nor was he permitted to identify a sergeant who flung his empty rifle like a spear into the face of the enemy. The name of the sergeant has not yet come through censorship.)

Following the late April battle fought at a cost of eight dead and 21 wounded compared with at least 150 enemy casualties, the troops moved into positions north of the Han River on a series of 300-foot hills east of Seoul.

Tuesday, Mills' patrol moved out from these strong positions, probing north. After capturing the four prisoners, they held a hill position until late in the day before returning to base.

Maj. Tighe summed up the operation: "One of our most successful patrols."

Value Of Burglary Loot Now Valued At $15,000

Alleged 'Cat Burglar' Appears In City, Saanich Court Thursday

Originally estimated to be worth about $5,000, stolen property recovered by Saanich police since the arrest of the alleged "cat burglar," Phillip Vass Russell, has now been valued at $15,000, Constable Joseph Armstrong reported today.

Constable Armstrong, who made the arrest with Sgt. Jack Hamilton, said that when the evaluation has been completed the figure may even reach the $20,000 mark.

Including jewelry, household articles and fixtures of many kinds and other articles, the property is believed to have been stolen from scores of homes in Victoria and district during the last six years.

POLICE HOLD LOOT

Sgt. Hamilton and Const. Armstrong have just completed the task of rounding up all of the loot. It has been turned over to police forces in the various districts to be returned to owners when court action is completed.

It is likely that all court actions against Russell for the Greater Victoria area will be heard by Magistrate H. C. Hall sitting as police magistrate in Saanich court.

Saanich police have laid nine charges of housebreaking with robbery against Russell. Victoria police have laid one similar charge. Other police forces of Greater Victoria and the R.C.M.P. will place other charges.

William Edward Russell, also of Saanich, brother of Phillip, faces two charges of illegal possession of goods alleged to have been stolen from homes by Phillip.

HEARINGS TOMORROW

Phillip will appear in city court tomorrow morning and in Saanich court tomorrow afternoon. Counsel James J. Proudfoot has reserved election and plea. George F. Gregory, counsel for William, has elected preliminary hearings to be heard tomorrow afternoon in Saanich court.

Transfer Another MacArthur Officer

TOKYO (Reuters)—Maj.-Gen. William A. Belderlinde, an assistant chief of staff under Gen. MacArthur, has been transferred to an assignment in the United States. Lt.-Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters announced today.

He is the third general staff officer to leave the Far East command since MacArthur's dismissal as Far East commander.

He follows Maj.-Gen. Courtney Whitney, who resigned as chief of the Tokyo headquarters government section the day after his chief's dismissal, and Maj.-Gen. Charles A. Willoughby, who late last month applied for retirement. Willoughby was MacArthur's chief of intelligence.

Whale 'Cooking' Stove Can Handle 30-Ton Mammal

Victoria Machinery Depot today had entered into a new line of manufacturing but admits there won't be much demand for additional models of its latest product.

The new accomplishment of the shipyard firm is a 42-ton stove for "cooking" whales. Built for Western Whaling Corporation's whaling station at Coal Harbor, the stove is designed to handle up to 30 tons of sea mammal at a time, reducing blubber to whale oil.

The huge cooker was taken from the yard today by barge. It is hoped the unit will be installed and ready for use during the forthcoming whaling season.

HORSE TROUGHS SNAPPED UP BY WINNIPEG FOLK

WINNIPEG (CP)—The city's business in horse troughs, relics of a by-gone age, ended temporarily yesterday with the supply exhausted.

The first cast-iron trough was bought two weeks ago by a resident as an "aesthetic and historical memento." The purchaser said it will be mounted on the boulevard in front of her residence.

The public works committee authorized sale yesterday of the third trough at the going price of $10.

B.C. Cabinet Still Studies Wage Question

Provincial cabinet decision on the request of the province's 8,000 civil servants for a 15 per cent wage increase is not expected before next week.

The question is still under discussion and added information has been asked of the Civil Servants' Association.

In addition to the wage increase the cabinet is considering an earlier request for a five-day week and three weeks' vacation after one year in the service.

Says West Must Contain Reds

If the western powers can contain Russia for 15 or 20 years she will no longer be a threat, George Elliott, Victoria College economics professor, said last night at a meeting of Victoria North Kiwanis Club.

Warren Wants More Cash For Civil Defence

WASHINGTON (UP).—Gov. Earl Warren wants Congress to vote more money for civil defence to help prepare the country for the greatest danger it has ever faced—the threat of an A-bomb attack.

Warren spoke at the final session Tuesday of a two-day civil defence conference attended by 2,000 delegates from civic, labor and business organizations.

Warren asserted that Federal civil defence planners have moved too slowly in preparing a program, and that Congress has failed to vote funds "commensurate with the seriousness of the situation."

Need Controls To Deter War--Truman

Tells Industrialists Military Build-Up Best To Ensure Peace

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Truman said today it will take at least two more years of tight economic controls and higher taxes to build the necessary strength "to convince the Kremlin that it ought not to start a world war."

The President warned that peace in Korea will not put an end to the global danger of Soviet aggression, and "we cannot afford to relax" in rebuilding the nation's military strength.

If all-out war hasn't developed in two or three years, he promised, it should be possible to begin taking off some of the controls by that time. He said he was trying to keep the war limited to Korea.

Mr. Truman spoke before an assembly of about 700 men, representing such industries as power, coal, minerals, petroleum and gas, who are members of advisory councils that work with the Interior Department on defense mobilization problems.

He asked them to help him get from Congress the production and inflation controls and the higher taxes he has requested.

"I am serious about this," he said. "I think you ought to be asking the Congress for higher taxes. But, when you do that, be sure to urge them to extend price and wage controls, too."

The Defense Production Act, which included authority to impose wage and price controls and consumer rationing, expires June 30. Mr. Truman has asked Congress for a two-year extension.

He told the industry leaders that the demands of military production on materials and manpower will be going up month by month for a long time yet and production controls are "urgently necessary."

"It is also urgently necessary for the Congress to extend the authority for inflation controls—controls on prices, wages, credit and rents," he said.

"And by that I mean adequate authority to do the job—authority not crippled by a lot of special exemptions for special groups."

He estimated that "we will have to use price and wage controls for the next two or three years at least."

In addition, he said, there is an urgent need for "heavy taxes" to keep federal income in pace with its spending.

Mr. Truman bluntly rejected the theory, advanced in some quarters, that price and wage controls can be dropped to let higher taxes and indirect controls carry the load of halting inflation.

TWO MORE YEARS of tight economic controls will be needed to avert war President Truman was saying today when he was caught by this AP Wirephoto. The President was addressing 700 representative industrial men, members of councils advising the Interior Department on mobilization problems.

Recruiting Slow On Coast; Army Satisfied With Over-All Response

Recruiting for the new overseas 27th Brigade, which began Monday, is slow both in Victoria and Vancouver according to army officials, although a steady number of inquiries is reported here today.

Immediate objective in Victoria is to raise a company, approximately 130 men, with recruiting of an additional company to follow, Captain S. A. Digby, in charge of recruiting for the Scottish and other branches of the army, said.

More married men than single are making inquiries, he added. Army officials at Vancouver reported 28 applicants accepted in the Vancouver area, the first day of recruiting. Objective there is 300 men.

"It was disappointing," said one official, "but we expect it will pick up considerably during the week."

Conditions of enlistment include: volunteering to serve anywhere; being a Canadian citizen or British subject between ages of 17 and 40 (tradesmen 45); physically fit and mentally alert.

Married men will be accepted. Enlistees will be enrolled in the Canadian Army Active Force for a period of three years.

Ottawa meanwhile announced today that a total of 509 men have been enlisted and another 1,499 are in process of enrollment in its recruiting drive for the new 27th Brigade, destined for service in Europe.

ARMY PLEASED

Officers said the totals up to late Tuesday were incomplete, since they did not include final figures from the Eastern, Central and Western Commands.

The recruiting target is 5,500 to 6,500 men.

Here is the breakdown by regional commands:

Eastern—56 enrollments and 370 applications in processing.

Quebec—49 enrollments and 563 applications.

Central—187 enrollments and 335 applications.

Pacific—22 enrollments and 128 applications.

Western—194 enrollments and 100 applications.

A spokesman said the army is "quite pleased" with the response to the campaign, which opened Monday.

WOMAN TRIED SUICIDE OVER 120-FOOT FALLS

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—A slight cut on the head was the only apparent injury suffered by a 22-year-old woman who was swept over the 125-foot-high Kakebeka Falls Monday night.

Dorothy McGregor, who swam safely ashore after being whipped through the swirling currents of the Kam-River, was taken into police custody Tuesday and charged with attempted suicide.

Police said her escape from death was miraculous. If the river had been at normal level she would have landed on rocks at the bottom of the falls. High water due to the spring runoff cushioned her fall.

Miss McGregor has undergone a medical examination but the results have not yet been disclosed.

She was at the falls, 18 miles west of Port Arthur, with friends. She was carried over the falls and through the rapids and was swept another 400 yards downstream to the vicinity of a powerhouse where she swam ashore. Her clothes literally were torn from her body by the ordeal in the water.

It was learned that Miss McGregor subsequently told police she suffered so acutely from migraine she could bear the pain no longer. A charge later was laid.

Pair Freed Due To Lack Of Evidence

ALBERNI—A charge of breaking and entering against George Milton-Paton and Lloyd Charles Bruch, both of Vancouver, was dismissed in County Court by Judge Arnold Hannah, who said he was not satisfied of the men's guilt "beyond a reasonable doubt."

Charge was of breaking and entering the McLennan, McFeely & Prior store here April 2 and taking $1,579.50 in cash and $1,038.80 in cheques from the safe.

London's Lord Mayor Will Visit

Victoria will be able to roll out its very best welcome mat in September when this city will be visited by the Lord Mayor of London, the Lady Mayoress, and other officials.

Their visit to Victoria will be part of a round-the-world trip. Announcement of their plans to call here was made Tuesday by Premier Byron Johnson.

The Lord Mayor and his party will leave London Aug. 7 on the start of their trans-world voyage. The party will fly from Auckland and arrive in Victoria Sept. 1.

It is expected the party will stay in Victoria for two or three days before going to Vancouver. While in this city, the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress will be guests of Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Clarence Wallace at Government House.

Plans for their welcome and entertainment have been placed in the hands of Provincial Secretary W. T. Straith.

M.P. Protests Bottleneck In B.C. Transport

OTTAWA (CP)—E. O. Jones (C.C.F. Yale) Tuesday night called for the removal of transportation bottlenecks in British Columbia.

He told the Commons that for defence reasons the Canadian government should strive to hasten construction of the Trans-Canada Highway between Alberta and British Columbia.

Another transportation bottleneck could be removed by having the lines of the Canadian National Railways and of the Canadian Pacific Railway between Kamloops and Vancouver reserved for one-way traffic.

For instance, the C.P.R. might handle all the westbound traffic between the two points. The C.N.R. could handle the east-bound traffic. Under existing conditions, he said, trains are frequently delayed for hours because only single railway lines run between Kamloops and Vancouver. The territory did not permit the construction of double-track lines by either railway.

Mr. Jones also suggested construction of additional airports in British Columbia.

NEED POLICE AT EDMONTON SCHOOL 'HOP'

EDMONTON (CP)—Four uniformed city policemen will attend the next teenage dance at Garneau School, Edmonton Public School Board ruled Tuesday night.

The board heard complaints that liquor bottles, cigaret butts and fire-cracker damage were discovered at the school following a teenage party last Saturday night.

Board members, reminded that adult supervisors are required to attend all teenage functions held in schools, were told by Secretary-Treasurer H. G. Turner:

"They're useless. The teenagers have no respect and take no notice of anyone who goes into the dance wearing an ordinary dress suit."

Mainland Auto Workers Strike For More Money

VANCOUVER (CP)—Members of the British Columbia Auto Workers' Lodge 1758, International Association of Mechanics (A.F.L.-T.L.C.) today are picketing four of the 16 automobile and truck shops here involved in a wage dispute.

Gordon Webb, union business agent, said last night a vote taken in the four shops revealed 60 per cent in favor of the strike. He said balloting will eventually cover the remaining shops.

Webb said the union seeks a $9.90 weekly wage increase for mechanics, compulsory check-off of union dues, maintenance of membership, and severance pay.

Some Rough Justice

ON THE ONE HAND THE UNIVERSAL old age pension system to begin at the first of 1951 will be inflationary. On the other hand, it will go some way to compensate the chief victims of inflation.

Some details of the gigantic social experiment now under way are given in an adjoining column. Like the fiscal problems involved the economic effects are not easily calculable. At first sight it may be said that the payment of pensions to everybody over 70 years of age will not create any increased public purchasing power, hence no more inflationary force, since the money will merely be taken from one Canadian's pocket in taxes and paid to another. This is too short a view.

If the prospect of a pension in old age persuades Canadians to reduce their own private savings, to spend all their current earnings, then the result will certainly be inflationary. More money will be loose in the country seeking goods and bidding up prices. To some extent—no one can tell how much—this will be the result of the new scheme. It must be counted an important inflationary factor.

Up to now inflation has chiefly victimized those who already have saved their money for their old age. Half their savings—by the real test of purchasing power—have been wiped out by the rise in prices since 1939. Yet if they have any investment income they cannot secure pensions which are given to old people who have saved nothing. The injustice of this arrangement is one of the main reasons why the Government has decided to make pensions universal.

Thereby the people of fixed incomes who have suffered most from inflation will be compensated, in part anyway. To the earnings of their shrunken investments will be added a state pension of $40 per month and $50 in the case of British Columbia, where the Provincial Government adds $10 to the Federal contribution.

The new pension program provides a certain measure of rough justice for some of the nation's finest citizens who have saved their money—that is, demanded less goods than they could afford to buy out of the nation's current supplies. But if inflation continues these benefits can be quickly reduced or wiped out. A pension of $40 a month is worth only $20 by prewar standards. It could be worth $10 a few years from now at our present inflationary pace. Hence no one should be more interested than the pensioner in curbing inflation. And since state spending is one of the major causes of inflation no one should be more interested in curbing it.

Having embarked on the huge costs of universal pensions, the Canadian people should be more determined than ever to hold down other state spending which with excessive private spending, can soon undermine the social security we are now proposing to buy out of heavy new taxes.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

OTTAWA: When Mr. Mackenzie King was converted doubtfully to baby bonuses at the end of the war Canada provided social security for the cradle. Now it is about to extend that protection to the grave. By January, 1952, every Canadian over 70 years of age, and some between 60 and 70, will draw a monthly state pension of $40 a month ($50 in British Columbia).

This plan has matured so quickly that the Canadian people have hardly begun to grasp the dimensions of this program—or its cost.

A few days ago the Cabinet received at noon the consent of all the provinces to the constitutional amendment needed to cover the universal old age pension system. When the House of Commons met at 3 o'clock the Government had the amendment ready.

Within a few weeks or days it will be passed by the British Parliament, still the unwilling custodian of half our constitution. By the first of next year the vast apparatus required to distribute pensions to all old people should be ready. Thus in our Canadian fashion, after years of agitation and debate, we suddenly complete an historic reform overnight with virtually no objection from anybody.

Yes, but we have not yet faced or even considered the cash involved. The cart having been placed before the horse, as is customary in democracy, the Government of Canada has no clear idea how to find the money for the new pensions. The provincial governments, which must bear their share of the total, are in even more difficult straits.

IN ROUND FIGURES it is calculated that the universal pension will force the Federal Government to find $250,000,000 of new money per year. This is equal to about a third of the recently increased income tax. It is big money. It will come out of the budget of practically every Canadian family. But how?

While not clear about details, the Government intends to present to Parliament shortly a plan by which a new social security tax will be deducted from every worker's wages. The self-employed and those living on investments will pay their share as an addition to the income tax. The pension scheme in fact will involve something like a 30 per cent increase in income tax, in addition to the 20 per cent announced in the last budget.

HOWEVER, the social security tax will be entirely different from the income tax in its distribution and its effect on various Canadian groups. The first question for the Government to decide is whether part of the tax shall be paid by employers, and the rest by employees. It will be good policy, of course, to make the employer pay half the bill, but since the employer will hand his cost on to the public in prices, the ordinary Canadian will pay the whole bill in the end, as he must and always does. In the case of the social security tax very few Canadians will escape.

MORE than half the earners of Canada are exempted from the income tax. Few will be exempted from the social security tax. It will be applied to every earner, except those in the very lowest brackets who earn a few hundred dollars a year. Hence the income tax, for pension purposes, is to be greatly expanded in scope as in amount. This is unavoidable since the present income tax payers cannot be asked to increase their payments by a third on top of the recent 20 per cent increase. Any way, the Government feels that as everyone will get pensions everyone should help, within his means, to provide the money for his old age.

THE FEDERAL Government will soon have the money it needs for these purposes but some of the provinces are in a serious jam. Though Ottawa will take over the whole cost of the universal pension for those over 70, the provinces must provide half the cost of means-test pensions for those between 65 and 70. In some provinces this cost will be much larger than the present provincial contribution to existing pensions. The provincial governments had counted on an indirect sales tax of 3 per cent to provide this money but that plan collapsed when Quebec refused to consent to the necessary constitutional amendment.

A RICH province like British Columbia, having a direct sales tax already, doubtless can get the money it needs. Some poorer provinces may refuse to provide pensions for the 65-70 age group. Even British Columbia may well find it difficult if not impossible to maintain a pension of $50 a month for any group but the Dominion agrees to provide only $40 for the people over 70 and half the cost of a similar pension, by means test, for those under 70. Neither government nor public yet realize the dimensions of this program.

Echoes Of Gladstone
London (Ont.) Free Press

Sir Gladwyn Jebb, British representative to the United Nations, speaking before the U.S. Council of the International Chamber of Commerce, in New York, declared that Stalinism in Russia would eventually fail because "it is morally wrong." Communism, he said, whatever it might be in theory, was in practice a ruthless police state. It is essentially wrong because it is inhuman and brutal. It is tyranny.

Back in his heyday, Rt. Hon. William Ewart Gladstone, the "grand old man" of British Liberalism, remarked that nothing which was morally wrong could be politically right. It is a maxim we should never forget: if we intend to keep our democratic processes free and healthy, it is at times we are tempted to put political expediency before moral virtue, before honesty and integrity, and succumb to this temptation, we too shall fail.

Soviet Policy In East And West

By WALTER LIPPMANN
from Washington

THERE could hardly be a more striking contrast than between the talkativeness of Washington and the silences of Peiping. Invaluable, indispensable, and inspired as are all the things we are shouting at one another, it is probably more important to find out, as best we can, what they are thinking and intending in Peiping and Moscow. That is not easy to do. There have been several attempts by members of the U.N. to make contact with the Chinese Government through diplomatic channels. Thus far they have not been successful. There are many who think that they will be more successful when the spring offensive in Korea has definitely been defeated.

There is another theory, more complicated and less hopeful, which has long seemed to me more probable. It is that the Korean-Chinese-Soviet operation, taken as a whole in its main conception, is an immense manoeuvre to divert American power and to divide the Atlantic community.

Undoubtedly Communist expansion in Asia and the expulsion of the Westerners are powerful reasons. But they would not be enough, it seems to me, to account for the decision to precipitate open warfare in Korea last June.

Moscow and Peiping must have known, they cannot have failed to make it a cardinal consideration, that once the whole of Korea was in their military orbit, the American position in Japan, which is fundamentally a weak one because of the extreme vulnerability of Japan, would be undermined.

I am disposed to believe, therefore, that while the Kremlin may have been surprised when we put the American Army into Korea, the Kremlin knew that it was challenging profoundly the American position in the Far East.

EQUALLY EVIDENT

It was equally evident that if there was to be a military showdown between the U.S.S.R. and the U.S.A.—and I think the Soviets probably believe a showdown is most probable—then the Far East was for them by all odds the best place to have the showdown begin. They had at the outset an immense ally—China, which besides being a reservoir of military manpower is also a gigantic buffer at the back door of the Soviet Union.

Beside that, the Far East offers no decisive targets to our strategic air power. From the Russian point of view the problem is like that of a man who knows he is going to get kicked in a brawl: the first thing he will do is turn his back and absorb the kick where it does the least damage.

But that does not exhaust the advantages of the Far East as a place to bring about a showdown with the United States. American air power can operate in a decisive sense only from the European side, only from bases and facilities which are owned by Britain and France and their dependencies. The neutralization of American air power is, obviously, the prime military objective of the Soviet Union. The self-evident way to neutralize American air power is to neutralize Europe.

This, according to all indications it seems to me, is what the Soviet Government is working for. They have stopped talking about withdrawing the Red Army from the centre of Germany and instead they appear to be using it as a force in being able to back up a policy, not of military conquest but, of political neutralization.

They are in effect saying to the people of Europe: "We could overrun you, and our army will remain on the Elbe to see that you do not forget it," but there will be no war in Europe unless Europe intervenes in Asia and as part of a war in Asia, enables the Americans to bomb the Soviet Union."

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN TOBIN

BEEN reading lately," said the Elevator Man, "about that fella who hoarded all the stuff in his house. Rooms and rooms full of junk—boxes, barrels and bales of it, and some of it lying loose. Some of it useful, some of it useless, but none of it saved for any practical purpose—just saved. Several times a year the news papers come up with stories along that line—fella who's retired from the world and more or less buried himself in the odds and ends they've picked up. You can get quite a variety of junk together without trying very hard. All it takes is perseverance, all you need is time. Sooner or later you're bound to end up with a fine pile of possessions. It means something to you because it's filling some inner need, but it looks pretty shabby to the rest of us. When you die it's opened up for strangers to see and all your little secrets are exposed. We're dead before we get any attention, so we do, and by then it's too late to do much good. Going down!"

"When I read these accounts," said the Elevator Man, "I can't help thinking that a lot of us have minds just like those old houses. All our lives we work away at filling them up with whatever attracts us. It piles up and piles up, gets pushed to the back and forgotten, gets covered up with new additions, and all of it has to make us what we are. At the end there's our whole history, pile of stuff, roomful by roomful. Most of us are mighty lucky that the executors can't go through our mental hoard when we die and show it to the world. Not many of us could stand that kind of publicity, even after death. The very thought of it would make you put off dying indefinitely. Lower main!"

"Privacy," said the Elevator Man, "whether mental or otherwise, is a great boon. It's probably one of the most precious things we have in the world—so we spend billions of dollars a year trying to destroy it. But they still can't explode us when we're gone. All we have to do is swallow the key, and keep our mouths shut."

SUCCESS AT LANGFORD

On behalf of the Langford Community Club we wish to use your column to express our appreciation for the co-operation shown by the residents of Langford in our recent White Elephant Sale.

The canvassers who called on most of the houses in the district for saleable articles were well-received and the donations obtained were very gratifying. The response to the sale itself was equally satisfying and a considerable sum of money was raised which will be used to pay off outstanding obligations and to improve the playground adjacent to the Community Hall.

We extend a special note of appreciation to members of the Community Club who gave generously of their time and effort to this project.

PREDICTION

So you are worried about the future of democracy because the average man is too concerned about his chances of buying a new car, or his plans for a summer holiday for his family, when I quote your own words: "the flames of civilization can be seen red and rising on the horizon."

It's too bad! But who shouldn't want a new car and a few of the other amenities of life when he knows full well that with the increasing cost of all things, the chances of his ever getting one grow less and less.

Governments in particular and the press in general, do not appear to be moving a muscle to stop this revolting exploitation of the people.

Just recently two large manufacturers reported profits totalling over a billion dollars between them in 1950. But I haven't heard a word from Parliament, or seen a line in the press, that the products of these firms could obviously have been sold for much less without incurring any danger of their becoming bankrupt. Not like Nero they continue fiddling while disaster and consequent communism stalk through the lands.

It's this very thing that is making Communists by the thousands and my prediction is (and I'm not a Communist) that in 20 or 30 years from now communism will have become so popular and so universal that Stalin (or his successor) won't have to ponder how they can conquer the rest of the world.

No! They won't have to worry about it at all. They'll be invited as honored guests and asked to take over. Voluntary and peaceful annexation, and all because governments and press in their own self-complicity have failed to perceive and neglected to cope with the thing that really matters.

WORRIED.

NEW PARTY

In advocating a political party, pledged to implement God's laws, Mr. E. W. Abraham has shown a wisdom born of sound scriptural knowledge. Because these laws are in harmony, governing creation, the Psalmist would in all truth pronounce them perfect.

Summed up for us in the Ten Commandments, the Statutes and Judgments given in the early books of the Old Testament, they present the perfect political platform and if followed out by such a party they could then be carrying out the command given by Christ which is quoted in the New Testament reading as follows:

"Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and his righteousness and all the rest (peace, social security, health, etc.) will be added unto you."

SOCRED VS. C.C.F.

Mr. Meuffels writes that he is left breathless and aghast at the "faring and unpopularity performance of the money-hungry and totally incompetent set-up now in office, meaning, I take it, the Coalition Government. He should also be breathless and aghast at the inconsistent statements of Social Credit leaders for he will find that despite all the talk against the Big Shots, that the Social Credit movement is an ally of so-called free enterprise or capitalism. Consequently, when it comes to essentials Social Credit is in the same camp as the Coalition, and there is no great difference between them, especially in provincial affairs.

Mr. Meuffels desires to save B.C. resources from wastage and political suicide, so may I suggest that when he regains his breath, he investigate the problem of another political movement.

He will find that in Saskatchewan under Premier T. C. Douglas, they have an equally trustworthy, conscientious, efficient and above all, a truly Christian government that has given Saskatchewan people the best government in Canada, bar none, despite the big problems inherited from their Liberal predecessors in 1944, and the limitations of much less natural resources than in Alberta and other natural handicaps.

Their hospitalization plan with its $10 annual tax and no co-insurance is just one example of Saskatchewan progress and C.C.F. program.

Why So Many Of Life's Casualties?

By FRANK S. MORLEY

A MAN of great ability and charm, who had certainly been the most popular man in his class in university, wrote, "I have missed the best." The New York Times made a study of the graduates from the most privileged American women's colleges fifteen years after graduation and discovered them to be living frustrated, unhappy lives. Why are there so many casualties where one would least expect them?

Nobody writes with more devastating power on this theme than Lewis Mumford. In "The Condition of Man" and "Faith for Living" he expounds the thesis that comfort, animal sensation, and physical security and success have replaced the Christian values of love, sacrifice, and creation.

There are few more terrible passages in modern literature than this description of the "new race" of "passive barbarians" who find life not worth living when deprived of "the fashionable minimum of sensation" and who live in a constant state of fear, anxiety, and envy, a life that at best is "hilarious anesthesia."

Another who writes on the same theme is Plutarch, who became a professor of sociology at Harvard. This remarkable man was imprisoned three times for revolutionary activities under

Swallowing The Preparedness Pill

THE MAGNITUDE OF NATIONAL defence programs in these days of scientific warfare is aptly illustrated by the Ottawa disclosure that defence orders in Canada may reach $2 billion in the coming year.

This figure, which nearly equals the original 1950 budget of the Dominion, is broken up into three main divisions. The Canadian defence budget itself will account for $1 billion—an expenditure to be provided for by levies on the taxpayer, whether immediate or deferred. Up to $600 million will be spent for supplies and equipment for the North Atlantic Treaty organization, and up to $400 million will be spent by the United States for arms purchased in a tremendous output of steel, copper, wood, aluminum, fabric, rubber and other materials, as well as labor. They imply a corresponding drain on the amounts of those commodities that will be available for civilian purposes, and on the labor that would convert them to civilian uses. It would appear that Canadians, who have enjoyed a post-war boom unequalled on any other continent, will at last be coming face to face with a measure of austerity. There is little pleasure in the prospect. But the alternative—unpreparedness in a world of conflict—is worse.

Not An Echo Of Another's Voice

UNLESS CANADIANS ARE PREPARED to sleep through the trying times into which events and the development of an increasingly important national status have plunged this country, it seems inconceivable that Hon. L. B. Pearson's Toronto speech, should be drawing the protests of the Dominion in some quarters. The British United Press reports that pressure has built up on Mr. Pearson to retract his statement that the days of "easy and automatic" Canadian-American relations are a thing of the past. Canada's Minister of External Affairs apparently has no inclination to submit to that pressure. Why should he?

The historic friendliness which exists between the two countries divided by the 49th Parallel is not in question. Canadians with any inclination toward a liberal outlook recognize not only the essential bond which binds the countries economically, but the general community of ideas which exist between them. That does not suggest that differences will not arise in the future, as they have in the past. Nor does it indicate that those differences will become so extreme that the North American partnership will break up because of them.

Canada's present position in the world of international affairs cannot, however, be maintained or improved if this country abjectly follows the American line. Its contribution to western leadership, moreover, cannot be of value if it adopts an attitude of subservience. Canadians, speaking through the highly intelligent and highly skilled men who represent them in international forums, have Canadian views to express. In some instances, as has been shown in problems arising from the Korean conflict, they do not fall identically along the lines of American policy. Is the United States to be denied the value of a different point of view because some people in this country apparently object to anything which would deviate from the "easy and automatic" relations which have existed between the two North American partners in the past?

To avoid studiously an expression of differing opinion would scarcely establish a course of value to our neighbors. We remain together "on the big issues," as Mr. Pearson quite properly points out. But as he noted in Toronto "there will be difficulties and frictions. These, however, will be easier to settle if the United States realizes that while we are most anxious to work with her and support her in the leadership she is giving to the free world, we are not willing to be merely an echo of somebody else's voice."

Why should any Canadian be asked to retract such a statement? How can Canada shoulder its share of the international responsibilities if it does not hold its own opinion?

Paths Of Glory

THE CONQUESTS OF NAPOLEON have gone down in history as among the world's greatest. He led his armies across Europe like a march of ants, taking over everything in their path. His military victories were masterpieces of strategy and tactics. He was a Great Man.

But for all who would emulate him—in ideological or any other kind of war—a short news item this week should carry a sobering thought. It told how the bones of Napoleon's father and of his great-granddaughter were being moved from France to the Bonaparte family vault on the island of Corsica. The item served to remind us that the bones of the great general himself lie in the Invalides in Paris—a more or less enduring reminder of the fact that he was very, very great; but an equally potent reminder that he is very, very dead. There is, indeed, little else left to speak of his military glories.

Frost New Threat To Hidden Stone

CHAPTER 15

I had a full night's sleep for the first time in a week, and felt fresh and fit when I woke on the Friday morning.

I was not yet out of bed when Alan and Gavin arrived, and I told them the course of events, for I had not seen them since Wednesday.

Alan was very anxious, for he had just received alarming information. His father had been informed by a man who was an expert on stone that if the Lia Fail was lying in the open there was grave danger of its disintegration.

It had lain in a dry building for six centuries, and if it were now left in the frost it might suck up moisture like blotting paper, and the frost would crack and split it.

I got up and dressed, and decided to call an immediate council of action. Our joy had always been corroded by the thought that the Stone was broken, and the thought that it might even now be splitting and cracking was a heavy responsibility.

We separated, Gavin and Alan to try to talk Alan's father into lending them another car for although the Anglia was still in Birmingham his people had three cars.

It was their intention to motor up to Kay's home to find where she had left the small piece of the Stone, and then to go down and collect it.

As I went in search of Neil I thought that was a bad idea. A car arriving in a remote Highland village was very likely to cause some suspicion, and that was the last thing we wanted to fall on Kay.

Furthermore I was certain that her part of the Stone would be quite safe, for it was unlikely that it would be hidden in the open air.

Feared Police At Heels

I met Neil, and we made arrangements to see Mr. King and Mr. Mason that afternoon. We met in his little office just off one of the busiest streets in Glasgow, and as the office workers poured from the buildings and fought their way on to the trams, we discussed what was to be done in the emergency.

Mr. King sat strained and tired-looking, as always, but with that intensity of concentration that only great people possess.

Both he and Mr. Mason found it difficult to believe that the Stone was in such danger as we had been led to believe, but we could take no risks. We decided that it should be collected immediately.

This was a serious alteration to our plans. The police hunt was at its height, and I at least felt that Friday evening that the hounds were slaving at my heels.

Something For Scotland

It is a fault of mine, not unassociated with youth, that I feel there should always be something to do for Scotland. I was desperately eager not to miss this chance.

It would have been better if we had had four drivers, but Neil canceled all his engagements and insisted on coming. He could not drive, but he was competent at almost everything else. The occasion was to arise when his competency was put to the test.

Simultaneously, we thought of our third man, Nelson Abbot, who was an Englishman born and bred, but he had Scottish blood on his mother's side.

He had spent much of his youth in Scotland, and had come to demand recognition as a naturalized Scot.

We knew he was with us heart and soul, and we had born seen him in Glasgow that afternoon. Small and bearded, with twinkling eyes and a quick sense of humor, he frequently got himself into the most impossible situations by sheer unwillingness to bow to popular conventions.

Neil immediately went up to the club to find him, and although Nelson had had no inkling of what we were planning, and what we had accomplished, the conversation between them must have been one of the shortest on record.

"Are you doing anything over the New Year?" asked Neil.

"I'm going up to Mull," replied Nelson.

"Is it urgent, or can you come south on an unusual trip?" asked Neil.

"I'm going up to Mull," replied Nelson.

New Guns, Dolls, Hotrods Ready To Entertain Children For Christmas Season

It's Christmas time at Empress Hotel today where C. C. Weatherill of Harry Smith Ltd., Vancouver, has turned one room into toy shop for local merchants' advance buying. Reporter Don Ingham, left, and Mr. Weatherill rush season with race in hall.

Mrs. Weatherill holds two life-size dolls from huge display of toys from Germany, Japan, Czechoslovakia and Great Britain. Weatherills predict wind-up toys and guns will be biggest sellers for kids in 1951 Christmas buying splurge.

dangers in his trip north. He saw the argument that it might endanger Kay, and immediately called the trip off.

He was a little more reluctant to go south. His father had already helped with generosity that was as magnificent as it was unselfish.

He was reluctant to overstep the mark, and while he himself was keen to come south, he did not want to jeopardize another of the family cars.

When he saw, however, that there was no other way out, he agreed, and we prepared to set off.

Petition Left At Newspaper

I did not envy them, but I am certain that they envied us. As it was however, they did have some excitement, for that evening in a Glasgow newspaper office they left the petition, carefully typed on Neil's typewriter (the same machine we subsequently used for the note in St. Giles).

We drove to my room, where Nelson was waiting for us, and I provided some luggage to make our trip look authentic. After a hurried call on Gavin, we set off south.

I was a little uneasy to learn that Nelson could not drive, for this meant that both Alan and I would again bear the strain, and we were scarcely rested from our previous trip.

This time, however, we had a really magnificent car. It was one of these long, low, fast black cars beloved of the detective writer—a 16-h.p. Siddeley, which responded magnificently, almost before you thought what you wanted it to do.

I was a little uneasy at being entrusted with such a machine, for my car-driving experience had only lasted a week, but I quickly got into the way of it, and enjoyed every minute that I drove it.

We drove south through Hamilton, and on to Carlisle, stopping frequently, for the car had a great thirst. The roads were in no great

On his return, his father treated him, not with reproach, but with pride and delight that his son had risked so much on an enterprise in which even more was at stake.

We left John King and Robert Mason two very worried men. Both of them would have come with us if there had been the slightest value in their presence.

But their worth to the movement was a different one from ours, and by their very nature this was one time when they had to sit and worry and wait while we had the clearness of swift action.

condition for speeding, but we had driven over worse. We were in fine spirits, for we fully enjoyed each other's company.

At first we all sat and sang and talked a little, but as we wore the heel out of the night we paired off—a driver, and a talker to keep him awake.

I was with Neil, and we talked about many things, most of them inconsequential. Occasionally we quoted poetry to each other, and once we talked for many hours about the fine new Scotland we would build if only we got the chance.

But most of all we talked about the police, and almost laughed the car into the ditch at the thought of them. Neil had invented a new word for a constable—"Dunstables," he said. "People with red necks and thick heads." And when, in some small town a policeman stepped forward to wave us on, the word "Sensible" leaped to our lips.

Henceforth there were no constables, but only sensibiles and dunstabiles. Even as we drove south to collect the Stone lying at Rochester, the dunstabiles were dredging the Serpentine! (To Be Continued)

HOME GARDEN

by Hilda Beastall

Few people realize that the beautiful Cinerarias which the florists have been featuring for the past month, were started last May.

This plant is a native of the Canary Islands and may be successfully grown in a cool greenhouse which can be kept a few degrees above freezing during winter.

The first, and most important requirement, is a good strain of seed, either of the grandiflora type with the huge florets, or the stellata, which carries hundreds of tiny blossoms. Poor blooms result from using poor seed.

Sowings may be made now, remembering that the Cineraria is almost hardy here, and that the seedlings must be kept in the coolest, moist airy part of the greenhouse. Be sure to prick out the seedlings as soon as large enough to handle.

One pest to guard against is greenfly. Careful, and regular examination of the plants, and plenty of space between them, will prevent an infestation. Use a nicotine-sulphate spray to keep the plants clean.

PICK OFF LEAVES Leaf-miner is a pest which disfigures the foliage with its whitish tunnels. Marked leaves should be picked off and burned, and the addition of Dieldrin to the nicotine spray will control both fly and miner.

The small plants will require abundant moisture during the summer, and re-potting should be done as necessary. Feeding

Two Members Named To Planning Commission

C. Dexter Stockdill, well-known Victoria architect, and Mrs. Harriet E. Ross were elected by acclamation to fill vacancies on the Town Planning Commission at Tuesday's council meeting.

Council also accepted resignation of Mrs. W. J. Shepherd as a commission member, to enable her to accept the post of permanent secretary to the commission.

Mrs. Ross will fill out Mrs. Shepherd's unexpired term which runs to November 5, 1953, while Mr. Stockdill will fill the vacancy created by the resignation of R. Logan Mayhew. The former will serve until November of this year.

City police commission Tuesday decided to raise the wages of police woman Mrs. Mary Mackie by $15 to $165 a month. Constable Albert Wells was promoted from third to second class constable.

Atomic Shell For Artillery May Be Proved

Eniwetok Tests May Include Small Weapon

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON (UP)—U.S. weapons experts may know by now whether they have a practical atomic artillery shell.

Congressional sources speculated today that a series of atomic tests being concluded this week at Eniwetok included the firing of weapons designed for use against enemy armies and fortifications. In the absence of official announcements, these sources believed that the first series of spring and summer tests scheduled at the Pacific proving ground have been completed or shortly will be.

There are indications that at least three different weapons were tested: a "stockpile" A-bomb of the "new and improved" kind believed to have about twice the destructive range of the Nagasaki type; a smaller bomb fashioned for delivery by attack-bombers; and an atomic warhead.

Although official information is lacking, military sources have speculated that the warhead is a sort of king-size mortar shell. Supporting that theory is the fact that during World War II this country developed a giant mortar, of 36-inch caliber, capable of hurling a 3,600-pound missile nearly two miles with great accuracy.

It would not be an impossible feat of ordnance engineering to design an atomic shell for such a weapon, experts say.

The mortar, firing ordinary high explosive shells, was intended for use against Germany's Siegfried Line. It was not needed, however, and never went into production, although it was thoroughly field-tested and even got a name—"Little David."

Little David appears to fit the specifications military men have set for a weapon to deliver atomic explosives accurately on battlefield targets.

Meat Men Advised To Justify Prices

No Figures Shown Yet To Hold Off Roll Back; Sen. McCarthy Set Back

WASHINGTON (UP)—Rep. Harold D. Cooley, D., N.C., a meat industry supporter, said today the industry had better come up with "facts and figures" to justify its opposition to the beef price rollback order.

Cooley is chairman of the House Agriculture Committee. He said the cattlemen thus far have "woefully failed to justify" their angry opposition to the order.

By his criticism Cooley did not mean to imply that he supported the order. But he said Price Stabilizer Michael V. Disalle had given his committee facts and figures why he issued the order and promised more.

In contrast, Cooley said, the industry hasn't given "forthright" answers to why it angrily opposes the rollback.

The first part of Disalle's order is effective today. It rolls back the price of wholesale beef 10 per cent—about three cents a pound. By Oct. 1 Disalle hopes the consumer will get a 9 to 10 cents a pound slash in prices.

Foreign Policy: Rep. James P. Richard (D., S.C.) took over as chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee. The 56-year-old tobacco-chewing Congressman succeeds Rep. John Kee (D., W.Va.) who collapsed and died Tuesday during a closed session of the committee.

NEW VICTORIANS

by Gwen Cash

Last June Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wenzel and their children, Terry 10, Ruth 6 and Maxine 4, came to Victoria from Port Angeles, Wash., for a long promised holiday and fell in love with the place. A month later they were all back. Mr. Wenzel bought a house at 2530 Blackwood.

Frank Wenzel is Polish by descent; a musician by profession.

His grandfather was a military engineer for the Czar. When the Kaiser's experts suggested he hand certain plans of forts over to them he made himself scarce. With Frank's father, he fled to the coast, shipped to Australia. Later they lived in England, then went to New York. Frank was born in Brooklyn, educated in Pittsburgh.

At 15, Frank Wenzel was studying violin with Gregor Scalo, leader of the second violins in the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra.

"But I learned to play other instruments including viola and trumpet," he says.

Graduating to professional ranks, he played with the Pittsburgh Symphony for some years and during World War One became interested in the therapeutic value of music. He did a great deal of work on it in the military hospitals and wrote a book called "The Fundamentalism of Music."

Hard work and a breakdown brought him to Los Angeles to recuperate. For some time he had to lay music aside. But in 1936 he was playing first viola under the baton of Leopold Stokowski at Paramount for the picture called "The Big Broadcast of '36." In "L.A." he was what he calls "musical trouble shooter" for the city's schools and had a good deal to do with the famous Hollywood Bowl, when Mrs. Leslie Carter was collecting pennies to buy the land.

Canada To Get German Assets From Japan

TOKYO. (Reuters). — Canada will get the largest share from the initial sale of German external assets in Japan, allied headquarters announced yesterday.

Canada will receive 28,105,800 yen ($78,690) of a total of 100,000,000 yen to be shared by member countries of the Inter-Allied Reparations Agency.

The allied civil property custodian said the property sold formerly belonged to German residents in Japan classified as "objectionable" under the terms of an allied directive in 1945.

At Ottawa, a war-claims spokesman said the government has yet to decide the method by which individual claims for reparations from the sale of German assets would be handled.

It is possible a commission will be set up to consider the claims.

Canada, 16 Other Lands Cut Tariffs

Nations Involved Represent About 85 Per Cent Of Total World's Trade

OTTAWA. (CP)—Canada has passed another milestone on the road to free world trade with the conclusion of long-term tariff-trimming agreements with 16 countries.

The new concessions, third round of post-war tariff cuts by countries representing 85 per cent of world trade, were announced Tuesday night. Most significant were reductions by the United States on about 400 items of interest to Canada. However, the effects are not expected to be felt immediately by the man on the street.

Finance Minister Abbott, explaining the concessions to the Commons, said they may work "in these times of inflation and high prices, to help ease the burden for the Canadian consumer."

Trade Minister Howe said the agreements "will add strength to Canada's commercial position."

The agreements represent the fruits of seven months of negotiations at Torquay, England, by 34 countries, members of the general agreement on tariffs and trade.

Total reductions granted and obtained by Canada represent commodities on which she does about $600,000,000 or more worth of world business each year. Most of this is with the United States. Canada's total trade each year runs to more than $6,000,000,000.

Wide Range In U.S. Deals

The American concessions range from aluminum to Douglas fir plywood and canned salmon. Here's the way some of the others may help Canada:

1. Fifty per cent reductions on chemicals, first since the United States rates were increased in 1930, are expected to open new markets in the United States for petroleum by-products from Alberta's expanding oil industry.

2. Concessions on aluminum, lead, zinc and a host of other metals will lead to tariff savings by major Canadian industries. Some of these savings may dribble down to the consumer by way of an expanded prosperity.

3. Concessions on agricultural items, including cheddar cheese, may help agriculture boost exports to the United States. Cheese shipments to the United States, for example, now total more than $1,000,000 a year. The United States is a big cheese producer.

4. Reductions on fish rates, especially canned salmon, may help Canada's fish industry on both coasts build up trade in the United States.

Besides these concessions, Canada obtained others with 15 countries, including France, Italy, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, the Dominican Republic, Haiti, Indonesia and India, as well as the six new countries entering into the broad general agreement. These are war-torn Korea, West Germany, the Philippines, Turkey, Austria and Peru.

When the required amount of corn is in the container, a lever is pulled and the corn weighed. Then it goes back to the bin.

The grain is being stored for the United States Government by Kerr, Gifford Inc., of Portland.

"We started taking grain off cars in November of 1949 and worked through until January of 1950," said Alfred Tristram, superintendent. "There were 463 freight cars in all to unload."

The main aim is to keep the corn dry, he explained, adding that the elevator was kept at "outside" temperature.

LOAD LINE ON BEER ASKED

VANCOUVER. (CP). — Trade unionists want Liquor Commissioner W. F. Kennedy to draw the line on beer glasses.

Vancouver Labor Council (C.C.L.), Tuesday night endorsed a resolution asking that the "load line" be put back on beer glasses.

Said marine worker's Sam Jenkins: "I was in a beer parlor last Saturday, and it was a kyp. I poured three glasses into two and had room to spare."

"Every time I drank a glass I had to say 'April fool' to my stomach."

"They used to have the load line on there. Let's ask Mr. Kennedy—the waterman of British Columbia—to put it back on."

Funeral services were held at McCall Brothers' Funeral Chapel this afternoon for Mrs. Rosa Semple, 68, once a prominent figure in the Order of the Eastern Star here, who died Sunday at St. Joseph's Hospital. Burial was in Colwood Burial Park.

BY-ELECTION MANDATORY

Voters To Select New Council Member June 7

A setting of policy and a referendum to the people would be necessary before City Council could reduce its number, Mayor Percy George stated at Tuesday's meeting, which set June 7 as the by-election date.

Alderman Robert P. Macmillan raised the reduction question, since resignation of Alderman Mrs. Hilda Hunter resulted in the need for a by-election. "Is it mandatory?" asked Alderman Macmillan of the by-election, adding that reduction of council by one would be a "step in the right direction."

The mayor replied that it was mandatory under the Municipal Act. Nomination day will be May 31 from 12 noon until 2.

Alderman W. A. Skellings asked for the cost of the last by-election in February in "order to clear the air" of rumors that huge sums of money were necessary.

Mayor George said the cost was $300.

PEACHAROON MOULD

So colorful, so appealing, it makes a "main attraction" at evening parties... or grand finale for dress-up dinners. But look! — only 4 inexpensive ingredients, and so little effort!

- 2 packages Cherry Jell-O
- 1 cup hot water
- 1 teaspoon almond extract
- 1 cup drained, thinly-sliced canned peaches

1. Dissolve Jell-O in hot water. Add extract. Set aside 1 cup. 2. Peel, slice and drain peaches. 3. Fold peaches into the Jell-O. Chill in 1-quart ring mould. 4. When remaining Jell-O is slightly thickened, set in bowl of ice and water. Whip fluffy, and fold in macarons. 5. Chill in 8 x 8 x 2-inch pan, when firm cut in cubes. 6. Mould ring and fill with cubes. May be garnished with whipped cream. 8 servings. A wonderful example of Jell-O economy and versatility!

5 Dishes to Give Sparkle to Parties

Only 4 Ingredients in Each!

FRUIT-CKTAIL CHARLOTTE

Dissolve 1 package Raspberry Jell-O in 1 3/4 cups hot water. Chill. When slightly thickened, add 1 pint vanilla ice cream which has been cut in pieces and allowed to soften a little, whip fluffy, fold in 1 cup well-drained canned fruit cocktail, turn into bowl lined with split lady-fingers. Chill. 8 servings. Equally good with any of Jell-O's 7 wonderful flavors... but remember, only Jell-O Jelly Powders give the really stirring results you want!

JELL-O SURPRISE CAKE

Frankly fussy — and oh-so-heavenly, with the "locked-in" Jell-O flavor. Dissolve 1 package Raspberry Jell-O in 1 1/2 cups hot water, with 1/2 teaspoon salt. Chill. When slightly thickened, set in pan of ice and water; whip fluffy, adding 1/2 cup cream, 1/2 cup raspberry jam. Chill in hollowed-out angel cake. May be frosted with whipped cream. 10 servings.

PEAR-CUCUMBER ASPIC

Dissolve 1 package Lime Jell-O in 2 cups hot water. Add 4 tsp. vinegar. Chill. When slightly thickened, add 3/4 cup seasoned celery, 1/2 cup diced cucumber and 1/4 cup drained, diced, canned pears. Chill in individual moulds. (Pear syrup may replace part of water.) So delicious, because Lime Jell-O is made with pure fruit flavor from real limes.

PINEAPPLE LIME PARFAIT

Dissolve 1 package Lime Jell-O (the flavor is pure fruit from real limes.) in 1 1/2 cups hot water. Add 1/2 cup canned pineapple juice and 1/2 cup crushed pineapple. Fold 1/2 cup drained pineapple into Jell-O. Chill. Place remaining Jell-O in bowl of ice and water; whip fluffy, then fold in 1/2 cup cream, 1/2 cup pineapple. Chill. Garnish. 4 or 5 servings.

Coleman's Column

By JIM COLEMAN

Some persons, such as noble Ben Nobleman, make a life work of writing to newspapers. The job of unpaid correspondent is one of dubious benefits. Nobleman's only reward is a sheaf of press clippings which he cherishes. However, press clippings make very poor eating, even when soaked in mayonnaise.

Nobleman works his name into countless Canadian newspapers through the simple device of flattery. He writes to the person to whom he writes.

Craftily, he will open a letter, as follows: "Dear sir: I have been reading your column ever since you started writing The Bugle. Your stuff is sensational—witty, intensely amusing and diabolically clever."

Naturally, even the late George Bernard Shaw, would be moved by such appreciative criticism. Of course, it is mildly disillusioning to discover, later, that Nobleman writes exactly the same letter to 923 other newspaper men, including the editor of The Morning Star.

Our Ben had a brief newspaper career himself. At one time, Benjamin persuaded Vern DeGeer that the Toronto Globe and Mail needed a column on high school basketball. At great personal sacrifice, Benjamin offered to write the column himself.

Schacht Proved The Exception

After the first high school basketball column appeared, DeGeer received three letters praising "the fine work of Ben Nobleman, your new high school basketball correspondent."

Unfortunately, DeGeer was acute enough to realize that these letters were written in Benjamin's own hand and, within a few days, noble Ben was the youngest "retired" high school basketball correspondent in the country.

The only man who ever sold himself by mail, incidentally, was Al Schacht, the pitcher who turned out to be a better comedian. Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington Senators, received scores of anonymous letters, praising the pitching of Al Schacht, a young fellow in the International League. It wasn't until after he had bought Schacht's contract that Griffith discovered that all those letters had been written by the wily Schacht.

Short, Terse And Pungent

We fear hat letter-writers are losing their punch. These days, a columnist often goes through two or three weeks without being insulted by one of his readers. This is a poor show and indicates that we are becoming a race of weaklings.

Personally, we've always liked the short, terse, pungent letters, such as the following:

"Dear sir: You stink!" (Signed) Lover of Sport.

There is, of course, another subtle variation of the same theme, to wit:

"Dear sir: Phewwww!" (Signed) Fair Play.

Generally speaking, the letter-writers in Vancouver and Victoria are the most violent. We remember one gentleman, Mr. Algernon Bland of Vancouver, the only person on record who could froth at the mouth in print. Sports-writers were his favorite target and their "Americanisms" drove him into a fury.

A Good Stock Answer

The letter-writers in Vancouver were so numerous and so tasty that when Robert Truscott Elson became news editor of the Vancouver Province, he drafted a form letter to reply to them. No wonder Elson went on to be an editor of Life Magazine. His form letter follows:

"Dear sir: Your letter has been received and the contents noted carefully. Your criticism is accepted in the same spirit in which it is offered."

One of our favorite letters wasn't a letter, strictly speaking, and it belongs in the world of fiction. It was a cable, dispatched by Captain James Job Trolley, the hero of Gene Fowler's great newspaper novel, "Salute to Yesterday."

Captain Trolley was a Denver newspaper man who had a mind of his own. When King Edward VII ascended the throne of Great Britain, the cap'n sent him the following curt cable:

"Sire! Free Ireland at once and no more shilly-shallying."

INTERLOPERS ON HAND

Times' Tennis Class Proves Too Popular

Despite closure of classes at the second session last Wednesday, instructor Jack Millidge reports that the number of youngsters attending the Victoria Daily Times Tennis School is mysteriously increasing.

Today night a nose count was made to ascertain whether attendance was falling off. After checking and rechecking, the astonished tabulators were convinced the number of boys and girls on the courts wasn't the registered 170. It was 175!

Gratified as he is at the response, Millidge emphasized today that the class must be kept down to the registered number for proper attention to each youngster. Registration cards must be produced at tonight's fifth lesson.

On the agenda at the Badminton Hall at 6 o'clock this evening will be the concluding instruction.

Anglers' Parley Called For Night Of May 18

Extraordinary meeting of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association to deal with the question of whether $2,100 in bonds can be used by the directors if required, will be held in the Club Sirocco at 8 on the night of May 18.

Following this the meeting will be turned into a general session for discussion on the ladder derby to open May 24 in Saanich Inlet.

PREPARE FOR BIG TRACK MEET

Oak Bay To Enter Strong Team

Judging by turnouts at the tri-weekly practices, Oak Bay High will prove a strong contender in the inter-high track and field meet to be held at Victoria High School May 23.

Probable point-reapers among the Cranmore Road seniors are Walt Young, Johnny Johnson, Gerry Rovers and Alan Thackray. All four are sprinters, and should also make a showing in field events.

Frank Lewis, six-foot-four-inch vaulter, will be the strongest contender for high-jump honors, with Bob Cross and Stuart Wright also marked as ribbon-raters.

MIDDLE DISTANCE

Middle distance prospects are Dick Hales, Doug Doidge and Walt Young. Young is expected to enter the 440-as well as the sprints.

Dick Pollard, Bays' powerful soccer fullback, is rated an outstanding performer in the weight events, both shot-put and discus. His bid for points will be matched with those of Al Richardson, Dick Piercy and Gary Webster.

Tops among the feminine sprinters are Ann McLean, Louise Slater, Maureen Carter and Irene Young. All four are also broad jump threats. Valerie Potter and Kay Burnett are high jump contenders.

In the junior girls' events Oak Bay coach Miss M. L. Bennett, has Janice Brinkworth, Hilary Wells, June Bell and Margaret Rainey.

A Happy Moment, Indeed

Tom "County Cork" O'Laughlin (3) dances the Irish jig as catcher Lilio Marcucci of the A's spikes the plate with the tying run in the last half of the ninth inning at Athletic Park last night. Marcucci had just cleared the bases with a grand-slam home run to knot the score at 7 to 7. First baseman Hal Jackson, left, also shows his delight at the turn of events. The A's went on to defeat the Caps in the 11th, Marcucci scoring the winning run.

PHIL PAUL GAME LOSER

Nudged out in the 135-pound class of the Buckskin Gloves tournament last weekend in Vancouver, Phil Paul of St. Louis College was named "game loser" in the tournament, which was for native Indian boxers.

Paul was decisively in the finals of his class by Peter Thomas of St. Paul's. Bout was officially termed "best of tournament."

Prep Softball Dominated By Suburbanites

Mount View, Mount Douglas and Central Junior High reiterated their superiority in the Greater Victoria Inter-High Junior Softball League yesterday when they registered in the win column again.

Mount Douglas had the biggest day, scoring in every one of the seven innings to paste Esquimalt 15 to 1.

Mount View measured Vic High Blacks, 15 to 10, getting 10 of their tallies in the first frame. Vic High Golds made it closer with Central, dropping their tilt 9 to 4.

Two Central pitchers, Thionthwaite and Curran, combined to allow Golds only a single hit in the game. All the Vic High runs came on four walks and an error in the fifth frame.

Combines Explode Commandos' Myth

VANCOUVER—Vancouver Combines proved the invincibility of New Westminster Commandos nothing but a myth here last night as they soundly thrashed the Royal City squad 16 to 8.

The impressive win earned Vancouver a split in their Intercity Lacrosse League doubleheader with New Westminster, after dropping their 1951 opener 15 to 12 last Thursday.

The loss prevented New Westminster from climbing into a first-place tie with Victoria Shamrocks, whom they meet Thursday night in New Westminster. Vancouver's superb condition was the telling factor as Combines practically toyed with the winded visitors in the fourth period.

Ahead only 9 to 7 after 45 minutes, Combines sparked offensively by Gogie Stewart and Elmer Buchanan rammed in seven goals to a single reply by Commandos.

Facing a "hustle or be benched" edict from coach Johnny Cavallin, Vancouver looked like world-beaters to 1,500 customers.

They stunned New Westminster with an early onslaught which earned them a 3 to 0 lead after six minutes. However, Commandos, who stop and go in spurts, crashed back for four straight goals and a 4 to 3 quarter lead.

Elmer Buchanan, who played an inspired game, shot Vancouver ahead for good early in the second period with two goals. Jim Anderson and Kenny Webb completed second-period scoring, as goalie Walt Lee turned aside all eight Commando shots.

BOB SNYDER LEADS

Capitanos Dominate W.I.L. Pitching Race

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Vancouver's Bob Snyder has jumped into a long lead in the Western International League pitching race by compiling a 5-to-0 record for the first two weeks of the campaign.

This was revealed in figures released from the office of Robert B. Abel, league president. Next in line are Spokane's Dick Bishop and Vancouver's Carl Gunnarson, each with 3-to-0 records. Gunnarson has gone to the hill only three times for a total of 8 2/3 innings—he pitched to but one batter on one trip—and on each occasion has been rewarded with the decision.

PROPT CLOSE

Southpaws dominate the strike-out race, Wenatchee's Tom Breisinger setting the pace with 26 despite the fact he has lost three and failed to win a game thus far. Jim Probst of Victoria, with 23, and Dave Dahl of Wenatchee, with 22, are next in line and both are left-handers.

Top right-handed whiff artist is Ronnie Smith of Victoria, with 21, of which 10 were registered as he went the route in the record 23-inning contest with Salem last Saturday.

Lilio's Big Blast Gets A's Off Hook

Grand Slam Blow Helps Sink Caps

The smoldering fire that burned deep beneath a season's record of four wins and 11 losses broke loose in all its latent fury last night in one fell swoop of the bat of Lilio Marcucci.

In other words dear readers, the Victoria Athletics won a ball game, defeating Vancouver Capitanos, 8 to 7, in 11 innings.

And it was Marcucci, normally a catcher but a third baseman, who supplied the smashing blow that put a Frank Merriwell touch to the joyful occasion.

And Marcucci not only slammed a bases-loaded home run in the last half of the ninth inning to tie the score at 7 to 7 but personally touched off the game-winning rally with a single in the 11th. Bill White followed with a drive that went for a ground-rule double to send Marcucci to third, and second baseman Don Pries hammered a sizzler through the hole to right field to drive home the tie-breaker.

It was the A's first win at home in six games and put a smile on Manager Dick Barrett's face for the first time in days.

The victory coming as it did was all the more important as it saw the A's literally explode at the plate for 14 hits, an all-time high for the season, and followed three first-class pitching performances, all of which ended in defeat.

LADY LUCK TURNS

But before breaking loose, the A's tried hard to give it away and even in the 11th inning it appeared that only Lady Luck would again desert the club.

White's double, his third of the game and his fourth hit, was good enough to score Marcucci with the winning run but the ball got lodged in the signboard on the centre-field fence and Marcucci was ordered back to third.

Hal Jackson then walked to load the bases and Pries rifled his third single of the contest through the drawn-in infield to give the Caps their four defeat of the year.

FREAK RUN

After taking a one-run lead in the first frame when Marvin Diecks was hit by a pitched ball and scored on a single by Marcucci and White's first double, the A's saw the Caps equalize matters on a freak play in the second.

Dick Sinovic opened with a single, moved up on a walk to Reno Cheso and then on an attempted steal to third kicked catcher Milt Martin's low throw towards the grandstand to romp home.

SOFT TALLY

The Caps' second run in the fourth was also a gift, starting pitcher John Marshall heaving the ball into right field on Bill Schuster's infield hit, the Cap manager circling the bases before White could run the ball down.

A two-base error by Bob McGuire on a single by Pries and an outfield fly by Marshall enabled the A's to knot the score in their half of the inning.

Things looked black indeed as the Caps blasted free for six hits and five runs off Marshall in the sixth to take a 7-to-3 lead.

THIS ONE FAILED

The A's threatened in the eighth when Diecks was again hit by Cap pitcher Kevin King and White and Jackson followed with singles. Martin walked to force in Diecks but the rally died when pinch-hitter Jim Probst grounded out for relief pitcher Bill Osborn.

John Tierney, third Athletic pitcher who came on in the ninth, got credit for the win, his first of the year.

Battling stars of the game were Marcucci, White and Pries as they accounted for 10 of the 14 hits.

Aftermath Of Hidden-Ball Trick

NEW YORK (AP)—Outfielder Whitey Lockman of New York Giants was fined $25 and manager Leo Durocher $50 by president Ford C. Frick of the National League Tuesday for the use of "foul and abusive language" after Lockman was called out on the hidden ball trick in Sunday's game with Cincinnati.

The play, engineered by second baseman Connie Ryan of the Reds, occurred in the 10th and final inning.

Barrett To Test Flipper Tonight

Baseball fans will get their wish at Athletic Park tonight. Dick Barrett is going to pitch. The A's manager made the announcement at the Kiwanis Club luncheon Tuesday and corroborated the statement last night.

"I'm going to start," Dick said, "I don't know how far I'll go, but I'll be in there."

Barrett has been working out diligently of late and though not at his peak is expected to make matters interesting for the league-leading Caps and especially Bill Schuster.

Schuster and Barrett were former teammates on Seattle Rainiers and when they met Monday night for the first time as rival managers, Schuster made a crack to Barrett: "When are you going to pitch?"

Barrett replied: "Oh, I guess I'll work this series."

"Good," said Schuster, "here's where I get my first home run." Game time it is.

Japanese Learning Democracy Quickly

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese baseball fans are learning American ways—a little too well. In the old days the umpire was as unapproachable as the Emperor. Fans and players alike were polite to umpires. Now Tokyo police warn ball park soda pop vendors their concessions will have to go if fans keep on throwing bottles at players—and umpires.

Bears, Indians, Solons Register Easy Victories

Among those in the winner's circle last night in the Western International Baseball League were Yakima-Bears, Spokane Indians and Salem Senators.

The Bears hammered out an 11 to 3 victory over the Tri-City Braves at Yakima. Spokane took advantage of a big inning to win 8 to 4 over the Tacoma Tigers and Salem had no trouble with the Wenatchee Chiefs in an easy 4 to 0 triumph.

The Bears won their contest on a combination of Larry Powell's pitching and excellent support given him by the field. Powell gave up eight hits and eight walks, but two timely double plays pulled him out of jams.

Layne-Matthews Bout Sought By Several Cities

SEATTLE (AP)—Jack Hurley, manager of Harry (Kid) Matthews, said Monday he had received a bid from associates of San Francisco promoter Bill Kyrne for a Matthews-Rex Layne bout in the Bay City this summer.

Hurley said Matthews was offered a $10,000 guarantee with a privilege of 25 per cent of the gross. Hurley took the offer under advisement but wired back that Matthews had already been offered twice that amount to box Bob Layne in Seattle.

Boise and Salt Lake City are also bidding for the projected Layne-Matthews go.

J. M. WOOD MOTORS

DODGE — DE SOTO

TWO LOTS TO SERVE YOU — 837-1061 YATES STREET

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor.

There's only one trouble with our spanking new office. It's right next to the M.E.'s inner domain, and with a clear glass window in between, there's nothing that Wulliger and you, myself, can get away with in the matter of interviewing blondes. Wulliger is that Trai, import Lance Whitaker, who henceforth will be following the Shamrocks into the Mann Cup final, he hopes. And just to make certain that the Rocks get off on the right foot this week in their first mainland endeavour, he will be introduced to the T.C.A. stewards Thursday night by the Irish.

But now that we're all settled down, it's quite obvious that we're not going to get the same number of visitors who used to make those almost daily calls.

Walker

John Howland, the old Welsh International will probably find it a hard grind to get all the way up to the Fountain from the Empress to tell us about Newport and its rugged style. John has a fondness in his heart for the old Newport fifteen. "They play the founder's game," he told us one day. Bright and early the very next morn he was back to inform us that Newport had been beaten. He wasn't quite so proud.

Then we'll miss Bert Buller, the inveterate Philadelphia Athletic fan, whose daily call into the office to check the late baseball scores was always good for an argument or two. But Bert'll be back. He sells insurance you know and with a wigdon to keep the wigget company now, Bert'll be here; we know that.

Speaking of the wigget—Ollie Corbett, the engraver who hasn't made the jump from the old plant yet, knew we'd get around to this sooner or later—she's got a new hobby. It consists of arising from her crib every time the wigdon utters a cry and groping for the tell-tale sign of a change of wearing apparel.

What makes it awfully tough to take is that we wake up dreaming about the Athletics' futile attempts at the plate whenever she makes her appearance.

Jack Milledge, The Times Tennis School instructor, found us, as did Mort Graham, our budding cartoonist. Jack decided he needed some tennis balls to conduct his class and so we obliged as his trip really was necessary. Mort just dropped in with one of his latest masterpieces.

Pleasant Memories

The school ground next door and the thump of bat against ball makes us dream of the time we too were young and irresponsible. These North Ward kids are really different. It isn't the boys who chase girls; it's the girls who chase boys. And the fair sex take part in the ball games, too.

Louis Cailan, St. Louis College's boxing instructor, also found us by accident or design on Sunday as he made his rounds as a member of the City Police detective bureau. One of Louis' prize pupils, Phil Paul, received the "gamester loser" award in the recent Bucksline gloves tourney at Vancouver.

But actually we like our new surroundings, and really we're not far removed from the field of sports.

Juvenile soccer commissioner Charlie Lewis shows up every day while we have a daily run-in with bowlers Dick Donaldson, Jack Caddell, Red Lawson, Bill Norris and Sid Jenkins. Dick and Jack are make-up men in the Island's fast growing newspaper (it grew two inches over the week-end) while Sid is a technician employed in keeping the linotypes operating.

Harry Returns To The Fold

Red is in the stereo room along with Norris, as is softball and basketball mentor Yarmy Yarmy. And on our first day this week we were pleased to see Harry Jealous back on the job again.

An ardent bowler, Harry has been under the weather for some time but with the opening of the new "home," Harry showed up complete with that familiar stogie.

While cleaning up the drawers and other dusty old nooks last week we came upon some old sport programs. One particular edition had the photos of Charlie Conacher, Joe Primeau and Harvey Jackson, Toronto's 'Kid line; and on the facing page, Mickey Walker, Tony Canzoneri, Maxie Rosenbloom, Max Schmeling, Midgert-Wolgaast, Bat Hattalino, a group of boxing champions of that era.

Then there was the Six-Day Bike Race program from Madison Square Garden with Victoria's own Torchy Peden teamed with Al Crossley. An N.H.L. scorebook from the Garden with the line-ups of Lester Patrick's 1930-31 team—Roach, Johnson, Regan, Boucher, Bill Cook and Bun Cook.

And yet another Six-Day program with Torchy teamed up with the kid brother Doug in 1938. And hidden away in a back corner of a drawer we found a faded sheet of The Times, July 31, 1937. This was Victoria's 75th anniversary number.

Going Back Into History

Some of the highlights of this edition that may have escaped through the passing years are worth repeating.

For example we wonder if it's generally known that horse racing is recognized as being the first really organized sport hereabouts. The initial program was run at Beacon Hill Park on May 24 and 26, 1862.

Baseball first made its appearance in Victoria on March 25, 1863, and cricket in 1864. Golf can trace its history back to the spring of 1893 while credit for introducing soccer goes to a former Scottish International, J. G. Brown in 1883. Lacrosse goes back to 1886. The Victoria club at Beacon Hill Park was the first lawn bowling club, being organized in 1909, while rowing ranks as one of the oldest and most famous with the formation of the James Bay Athletic Association in 1886.

Tennis is described as a social game before the first B.C. championships were held at the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club courts on Belcher Street in 1881. Rugby had some great battle in the '90s, being introduced by the Navy on shore leave.

We found other things, too, such as Muz Patrick's life history when he was slugging his way to the Canadian amateur boxing title and thumbnail sketches of the "Old Cougars."

Yes, it was a real clean out, but we're saving the records of the past for the future. Perhaps we can win some bets, now that we've got the facts.

Irish Bob Sees Nardico As Another Pay Check

CHICAGO (AP)—Irish Bob Murphy, whose thin ruddy features prove his right to a Gaelic pseudonym, said today he was one fighter to whom a championship was somewhat secondary.

"Sure, every fighter wants a championship," he said, "but I want to fight anybody I can anywhere just so I get some money out of it. If a championship comes along with it, that's better. But along the way I want a lot of fights with a lot of money."

Murphy, whose real name is Edward Lee Conarty, has been doing just that while rising to some prominence in the light heavyweight division.

A native of Flager, Colo., he started scrapping in Denver as an amateur and then professionally. Then he went in the navy and even while in uniform he engaged in some pro fights before his discharge.

Those fights while in the navy accounted for his name change. "The navy didn't want me fighting," he said, "so I had to pick another name and that's how I hit on Murphy."

SIX YEARS A PRO

Murphy has been going for six years on his present pro stretch, but his fame was largely limited to the West Coast until his manager, Travis Hatfield, took him east in November.

Since then Murphy has toured the east with success, losing a decision to Harry Mathews in New York and losing to Joe Rindone on a foul in Boston while winning seven bouts by knockouts. The two defeats gave him a record of 15 victories in his last 17 bouts and a lifetime mark of 56 wins in 61 fights.

Murphy's next start will be Wednesday in the Chicago Stadium against Danny Nardico, a Los Angeles boxer who rated as a nobody until he belted out Nick Barone in Miami Beach last month to move into the top ten of his class.

And this is one Murphy wants to win.

"They tell me that whoever wins this," he said, "gets Jake La Motta in his first fight as a light heavyweight. We've been trying to get La Motta for over a year, and I want to fight him."

Hatfield listed La Motta as one of their major objectives too, but he also recommended bouts with heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles, light heavyweight champion Joe Maxim, Bob Satterfield, Barone, or numerous others who promised to draw good gates.

"He'll fight any of them," Hatfield said, "just so long as there's money in it."

UNITED TO MEET NANAIMO

Island representative in the Province Cup soccer series will be decided Saturday afternoon at Macdonald Park when Victoria United meets Nanaimo. Winning team will meet the winner of the Mainland Cup for the provincial title.

United won the right to represent the lower island with a 4 to 1 victory over Esquimalt last week-end. Nanaimo won the upper island championship in a recent game with Courtenay. Game time Saturday is 2.30.

Solons Climb With Fifth Straight Win

In second place and still not satisfied, Sacramento Solons last night won their fifth straight Pacific Coast Baseball League victory by edging Hollywood 5 to 4.

The Stars put on a strong finish but Al Benton had them under control until they batted him out in the eighth.

Solons are in runner-up position to Portland Beavers, who bunched two hits, a couple of walks and an error in the third inning to post a 3 to 2 win over Los Angeles.

Seattle Rainiers took advantage of early wildness by Lefty Ragul Lopez to hit and walk to a 10 to 1 win over Oakland A's.

San Francisco Seals edged San Diego Padres 4 to 3 after Padre pitcher Sam Jones blew up and walked in three runs in the second inning.

DICK WILLIAMS, in his first year as coach of a Victoria softball team, watches his Pitzer & Nex club take over top position. Williams played briefly for Douglas Tire last year, broke his wrist in mid-season.

STILL UNDEFEATED

Gasmen Trim Harper In Taking Loop Lead

Pitzer & Nex took over first place in the Senior "A" Men's Softball League by downing a fighting Bluebird Cab nine 7 to 4 at Central Park last night.

The Gasmen scored four runs in the fifth to break a 1 to 1 tie, and then added two insurance markers in the seventh as Dixie Harper weakened on the mound for the Cabbies.

Ken Gunter hurled effective ball for the loop leaders but was shelled from the mound in the top of the ninth after Tim Walker had lined out to right centre, and the speedster roared around the bases, chasing in George Barnes and Dixie Harper, who had previously walked.

GUNTER FADES

Gunter got pinch-hitter Bob Lomas on a line drive out to third, and after walking Charlie Sansbury gave way on the hill for Norm Martin. Martin the reliever, worked the count up to 3 and 2 on Embleton, and then blew a third strike past him. Harris grounded out to end the rally.

On the night's play the teams were closer than the score would indicate, but as usually happens, the front runners got the breaks. Little bloopers that dropped in for hits, bad base running that paid off, and phenomenal catches in the outfield, were on the side of the winners. Flori Gogean made a circus one-hand catch of a line drive from the bat of Lorne Harper that could have meant trouble for Pitzer & Nex in the eighth.

NEW UMPIRE

The batters on both teams were a little fidgety at the plate, as they were uncertain on the way Plate Umpire Jack McCorkell would call the pitches. McCorkell is making his debut in Senior A umpire circles, and this was his first game behind the mask, and although he was in constant trouble with both benches he called a good game.

As predicted, the pitching battle between Harper and Gunter materialized, and although Gunter wasn't around at the finish, he gained credit for the win.

Gunter gave up five hits, struck out four, and passed seven batters, while Harper was hit hard in the late innings for a total of nine hits, all singles, walked seven, and struck out two. There is no Senior A action in the Central Park diamond tonight. The next scheduled game will be played on Thursday night at 6.30 when Chinese Students will try to put a stop to the unbeaten streak of the Pitzer & N.X.

Pirates Like Pawns In Hands Of Branch Rickey

Branch Rickey's manipulations with the Pittsburgh Pirates chessmen makes that old "who's on first, what's on second" gag as outmoded as a day game in St. Louis.

Pittsburgh fans were prepared for some changes when Rickey left Brooklyn to take over the Pirate reins. But not in their wildest moments did they dream:

That Ralph Kiner, the National League's home-run-hitting outfielder, would be at first base this year;

That Pete Reiser, who has done some infelding and outfielding in his day, would be classed as a catcher, or;

Just when the bewildered faithful get used to these switches, Rickey sends them reeling with a new series of moves.

Today's box score shows a leftfielder at first, a centre fielder at third, a shortstop at second and a third-baseman at short.

But there is method to Rickey's madness.

The opposition is more confused than the players and the fans.

Last night the Bucs drubbed the Phils under the Philadelphia lights, 9 to 3. It took the Phils eight innings to score off Mel Queen. It probably took them as long to get used to the mixed lineup.

Except for an error by Wally Westlake, the new line-up did right well. Kiner swatted his fourth homer of the season. The Phils chipped in with three errors and managed only four hits as Ken Heintzelman went down to his third loss.

BRVES LEAD

The Braves moved into first place with a 2-1 triumph over Cincinnati at Boston.

A homer by Sid Gordon in the ninth ended a pitching duel between winner Max Surkont and Herman Wehmeier.

The Giants ceded the cellar to Cincinnati by defeating St. Louis Cardinals, 6 to 2, at night in New York. Larry Jansen pitched a four-hitter.

Hank Sauer's home run with a mate aboard in the first inning gave Chicago Cubs, a 2-1 triumph over the Dodgers.

Bob Schultz, rookie southpaw, spaced nine hits for his third victory.

A fluke single by Vic Wertz in the 11th inning drove in Jerry

CLEVELAND (UP).—Bryans suffered from scalding water will keep Bobby Feller out of action for a week.

The Cleveland Indians' veteran pitcher suffered the burns yesterday as he prepared to take a whirlpool bath as treatment for scalding. The hose he was using "got away" and the water caused first and second degree burns on his lower torso and legs.

However, Dr. Don Kelly, the Indians' team physician, said the injuries were not serious.

Pearkes Charges Navy Ineffective

Submarines Nearly Won Two Wars For Enemy, Military M.P. Warns

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's navy hasn't a single effective team of warships and planes to tackle its primary wartime job of fighting submarines, the official Opposition's military critic charged yesterday in the Commons.

That accusation was made by Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C. (P.C., Nanaimo), who coupled it with statements that Russia now has 750 subs and that it was the submarine, more than any other weapon, which nearly licked the allies in two world wars.

To it, Lt.-Col. Douglas Harkness (P.C., Calgary East) added the charge that, in the switch to American arms, Canada has been stripped of half her army weapons without replacing them and that the army may be swapping some good arms for U.S. weapons which aren't nearly as good.

The statements were some of the many made in the first day of a free-ranging defence debate touched off by Defence Minister Claxton's introduction of estimates of $1,600,000,000 for his department this fiscal year.

May Be Ahead Of Schedule

Mr. Claxton, launching the debate, did in effect supply a reply to another charge by Gen. Pearkes. He said that if recruiting rates held up at anything like their present level the target of 115,000 servicemen and 35,000 civilians for defence jobs by March 31, 1954, will be reached 18 months ahead of schedule or in half the time originally planned.

Gen. Pearkes had other ideas. He said the 115,000 estimates is too little, won't provide enough men to match Canada's commitments and "may throw out of gear the whole concept of our plan" to build up the forces.

Mr. Claxton interjected that the target now is "more than 115,000."

Gen. Pearkes went on from there to charge that Canada still is adhering to haphazard methods of raising manpower.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, contended that members don't know what's going on in defence and called for a committee similar to the wartime war expenditures committee which, he recalled, could meet in camera and get background information confidentially.

Leonard Stock (L.L. Trinity-Conception) suggested that a group of members of Parliament be flown to Korea to tell Canadian soldiers Canada is really behind them.

Ray Thomas (S.C., Wetaskiwin) accused the government of not getting across to the people the real urgency of the world situation. Canada, he said, is

ARMY'S 'SPECIAL FORCE' GOES

Recruited Last Fall For Korea Group Taken Into Regular Army

OTTAWA (CP)—As a term, the army's "Special Force" is dead.

Now it is simply the 25th brigade group plus the replacement group for that formation.

It was recruited last August and September, with special terms of enlistment, to back Canada's obligations to the United Nations or Atlantic Pact. The bulk of its men now are in Korea.

Efforts have been made in recent months to get the men to transfer to the regular army. No report has been made public on the success of this campaign, but headquarters say the situation has reached the stage where it has been decided to eliminate any differences and to treat the 25th Brigade as simply another branch of the army.

So the term Special Force—originally designed to indicate that it was a force specially recruited to serve Canada abroad—is being dropped.

In the Commons Tuesday, Defence Minister Claxton reported that it recruited 10,587 men. A few days ago it was reported officially that another 1,300 men were posted to it from the regular army.

Mr. Claxton said there now are 6,100 men with the 25th Brigade in Korea plus 1,100 in a reinforcement pool. Of these, 5,770 were men who joined the Special Force.

In addition there were replacements in Canada. Headquarters later reported these total about 2,750, including more than 1,000 now moving to Wainwright, Alta., from Fort Lewis, Wash., plus another 1,650 who will go there from other bases in Canada.

These figures indicate the force which used to be the special force took in a total of 11,887 men, special and regular, or roughly 2,000 more than it now has.

The last official report on discharges showed they totalled more than 4,000 some three months ago.

PRAYDA CLAIMS RUSSIANS WON WORLD WAR II SINGLE-HANDED

LONDON (AP)—Pravda pinned a few editorial laurels on the Russian people today for what it described as the single-handed feat of winning the Second World War.

"It is six years since the day of the victorious conclusion of the great patriotic war of the Soviet people against Hitler invaders," said the paper in a broadcast editorial.

"... Soon after the winning of this victory the Soviet army and navy crushed Japanese militarism."

IS YOUR COMPANY HERE?

SHOWN here are just a few of the important concerns NP has served for a good many years (names on request from Northern Pacific Railway, St. Paul, Minn.) Even if your business isn't represented above, we hope that you, too, are on our "permanent customer list."

WHY DO THEY ALL SHIP NP? Well, there are many reasons. We can't put our finger on any one thing in particular...

IT MIGHT BE OUR CONVENIENT ROUTE. For Main Street of the Northwest serves so many important business and distributing areas and centers of population—593 to be exact—between the Midwest and the North Pacific Coast.

PERHAPS IT'S OUR FAST NEW DIESELS. Just since 1940 we've put 211 diesel units in service, added nearly 15,000 new freight cars, made improvements to roadbed and structures to give your freight a smoother, safer ride. And more new equipment and improvements are coming!

MAYBE IT'S NP'S EXTRA-SERVICES—Like

our daily passing report that helps locate your shipment anytime—anywhere on our line. Or our freight claim and traffic representatives who'll advise you on loading "problem" shipments and securing them for safer delivery.

IT COULD BE ANY OR ALL OF THESE REASONS. But one thing we know for sure. Today, Main Street of the Northwest is busier than ever. Not too busy, though, to give your freight the same efficient NP service as always.

TRAVELING? Aboard the streamlined NORTH COAST LIMITED, you'll enjoy real western hospitality on our all-room Pullmans and "Day-Nite" Coaches. And famous NP meals are just as hearty, just as delicious as ever!

Frank Fay, Harvey, Part After Five-Year Stint

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Another famous friendship has broken up—that of Frank Fay and Harvey. Thus ends an association that ranks among the most noted in the history of the American theatre. Fay and the Pooka (six-foot rabbit) cavorted together more than five years in New York and on the road.

"No, I don't believe I'll ever play the show again," Fay said. "I have had two offers to do it again in New York. But I turned them down. I think it's a mistake to become too identified with one particular role. It can hurt your career."

"It's not that I'm mad at Harvey. I love the little fellow. But I think it's better that we go our own ways."

GOOD ROLE

Fay added that he never tired of playing the role. He offered a hint as to why he was the most successful of the many stars who played it.

"I didn't play the audience, as the other fellows did," he explained. "I played to Harvey. He was a very good friend and he never let me down."

The actor expressed no bitterness about not doing the film version, which won James Stewart an Oscar nomination. "They didn't want me," he said frankly.

IN HOLLYWOOD

In Clifton Webb's Case Man Makes The Clothes

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—The Laugh Parade: Clifton Webb usually winds up on a list of best-dressed men every year, but rarely gets a chance to display his sartorial finery on the screen. He hauled out the Bond Street duds a few days ago, however, when a film scene called for a slight touch of splendor.

It was up to Director Henry Koster to pick the right outfit so Webb modeled a variety of tweeds, doekins and worsteds, but all of the suits were too elegant.

"It's no use," Koster said, "your own clothes are simply too distinctive."

Webb drew himself up to his full height and turned:

"Gentlemen, it is I, not my clothes. You may as well know that as a baby I looked positively chic in my diapers."

CLEAR AS MUD

The publicity crew at Warner's is mulling it over.

A letter from Florida's famous Marineland arrived at the studio. The owners of the tourist attraction, it stated were proud and honored that Gary Cooper was making "Distant Drums" a few miles away on a Florida location site. Certainly, the studio would wish to hold the world premiere of the picture in the state in which it was filmed.

"We can offer you," the Marineland officials concluded, "the opportunity to hold the first underwater motion picture premiere in history in our crystal-clear waters."

Well, anyway, it might be great for movies with clouded plots.

Nobody has ever accused my Aunt Tillie of being a good bridge player, but sometimes I think she has been underrated.

The other night I saw a hand that brought my aunt very clearly to mind.

The play was a long, bitter struggle. West opened the jack of hearts, dummy played low, and East took his ace. He returned a heart, and South won with the queen.

South led a trump hopefully, but East showed out and there was no harm in Gilead. Declarer abandoned trumps to tackle the clubs, and West ruffed on the third round. West then returned a diamond to make dummy ruff.

The play saw-sawed in this way for a while, and South wound up with only nine tricks for a loss of 500 points. Maybe he could have saved a trick by some weird manoeuvre, but I doubt it.

The trouble lay in the bidding rather than in the play.

North and East were innocent enough, but South went in inventing horrible bids. I will leave it to the reader to choose the chief criminal.

South was justified in bidding one spade, and probably also in passing five diamonds. When North then bid five spades, South should have considered a run-out to six clubs. Obviously East had a big red two-suiter, and just as obviously North had a big black two-suiter. The spades were almost surely 4-4, and a bad trump break would be fatal.

When West doubled, South's worst fears should have been confirmed. He should have run to six clubs with a grateful bow to West for the warning.

Do you think, therefore, that South was the criminal for failing to bid six clubs? If so, what do you think of West's double?

West had the enemy lashed to the mast at five spades. He had no defence against six clubs. Even my good aunt doesn't double in a spot like that.

Q—The bidding has been: East South West North 1 Heart Double 2 Hearts Pass Pass

You, South, hold: Spades K-Q-7-4, Heart 2, Diamonds A-Q-6-3, Clubs K-9-8-5. What do you do?

A—Double again. This is still a takeout double. Some reasonable trump suit must be available, and you should not sell out so cheap despite your partner's pass.

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding has been:

East South West North 1 Heart Double 2 Hearts Pass Pass Double 3 Hearts Pass Pass

You, South, hold: Spades K-Q-7-4, Heart 2, Diamonds A-Q-6-3, Clubs K-9-8-5. What do you do?

CHOIRS WIN PRAISE

High School Groups Hailed At Festival

The work of these choirs has real significance," said Glyndwr Jones, adjudicating the class for High School Choirs (open), Mixed Voices, at Tuesday evening's session of the Greater Victoria Musical Festival.

He added that such splendid choral singing on the part of the young people assured Victoria of a musically great future. He said that a large choir—Victoria High School, upwards of 120 voices—did not have an advantage, as might be supposed, over a smaller choir—Esquimalt High School, 45 voices.

On the whole, it was twice as much work to conduct the larger body, Mr. Jones said. He awarded Victoria High a total of 181 marks and Esquimalt a total of 171 for singing that gave "me and my colleagues a great deal of pleasure."

WIN SHIELD

In the Male Voice Choirs, Grade A, two of Victoria's leading groups sang against each other, with the result that Victoria Masonic Choir carried off the Knights of Pythias Challenge Shield with a marking of 180, while the Arion Male Voice Choir received 168.

Other results on the evening program which a good audience attended in First United Church, were as follows: Mezzo-soprano, Grade A: 1. June Milburn, 169; 2. Jean Halket, 167. Sonata, Open: Jacqueline Sawyer, 79; Speech Choirs, Adult (open): Victoria School of Expression, 175.

Trophies presented at the conclusion of last night's session were: George F. Watson Memorial, Trophy for private school choirs, St. Margaret's School, George Jay Challenge Shield, high school choirs, Victoria High School, Canada Daughters' League, Assembly No. 5; for public speaking, Kathryn A. Roberts, Mrs. J. O. Cameron Cup for junior folk dancing, Adeline Duncan Dancers, Mrs. J. O. Cameron Cup for folk dancing (open), Adeline Duncan Dancers, Canadian Bank of Commerce Rose Bowl, adult open speech choir, Victoria School of Expression.

During the afternoon, Mr. Normann adjudicated a Cornet Solo Class, 14 years and under.

STARS OF BYGONE ERA HONORED IN MEMORY-SHORT HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The film capital dipped into the past last night with a movie premiere to salute the stars of the silent era.

Hollywood, noted for its bad memory, did an about-face by honoring the faded film personalities "for the pleasure you have brought to millions the world over."

Francis X. Bushman, heartbeat of the silent era and a radio actor now, looked dashing as he escorted starlet Piper Laurie. Betty Blythe, also on radio now, looked younger than her years.

Elmo Lincoln, present-day bit player, was as strapping as when he played the screen's first Tarzan. Julia Faye, longtime Cecil B. DeMille star and still a player in films, ran down the aisle for her citation.

Comics Hank Mann and Chester and Heine Conklin, with their former boss, Mack Sennett, also were honored guests.

Friend Follows Mary Astor Into Hospital, Over-Drugged

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—An actress who was with Mary Astor's husband Monday night, when Miss Astor took sleeping pills, was herself in a hospital today.

Police said Miss Casparis' action was attempted suicide. Several hours after she was found in her hotel room, hospital attendants said she was still unconscious.

Wheelock told police that he, Miss Casparis and another man had made a round of bars Monday night.

In Culver City hospital, the 45-year-old Miss Astor was recovering from her third overdose of sleeping pills in 11 months.

Wheelock told him Miss Casparis was a friend of 20 years' standing. He quoted Wheelock: "This situation has nothing to do with Miss Astor's action."

DOCTOR WENT SPYING

In Enemy Lines
To Spot Disease

By PETER KALISCHER

TOKYO (UP).—An American general risked his life on a top-secret mission deep inside enemy territory to investigate a deadly epidemic felling Red troops, it was disclosed today.

The exploit by the army physician produced information vital to safeguarding the health of United Nations troops. It also was believed the source of Communist claims that the Allies were engaging in germ warfare.

For "extraordinary heroism" in accomplishing his mission, Brig. Gen. Crawford Sams of Atherton, Calif., was awarded the Distinguished Cross—the second highest U.S. military decoration.

Sams, 49, chief of the U.N. Command Public Health and Welfare Section, volunteered for the mission last March to investigate reports that bubonic plague was rampant among enemy troops. It was feared the plague might spread to U.N. forces.

REDS WARNED

An amphibious landing was planned almost under the enemy's nose and Sams was warned that the Reds knew about the operation.

Nevertheless, he and three companions began their daring mission at 10 o'clock on the night of March 13. They set out in a powered navy whaleboat 20 miles off the coast of North Korea.

A few hundred yards offshore, the party transferred to a small rubber raft and paddled through pounding surf to the enemy-held beach.

They crawled and ran across the mine-strewn beach and worked inland to a North Korean village. There Sams questioned his pre-arranged contacts about their reconnaissance of enemy hospitals and sick bays.

From their description of the stricken men, Sams was convinced they were suffering from an epidemic of hemorrhagic smallpox instead of the reported bubonic plague. A former medical officer in the Middle East, Sams could easily have recognized the symptoms of bubonic plague.

Sams had been prepared to make "smear" tests and if the tests proved positive, he would have ordered mass vaccines for the protection of all U.N. forces.

But this was not necessary. Nor were any other steps needed to protect already vaccinated U.N. troops against the smallpox epidemic.

The Communists later executed 25 Korean families in reprisals for helping the U.N. men.

City Council Approves
Various Minor Projects

City Council Tuesday agreed to provide an additional $1,821 for the Public Library out of the contingency fund, approved erection of bleachers at Central Park to cost $1,700 and accepted a tender of $8,450 for appraisal of city-owned buildings.

The city public works will erect bleachers for the Senior "A" Men's Softball Association but will be reimbursed in a period of two years.

General Appraisal Company Limited bid was accepted for the buildings appraisal. Council also decided:

Not to oppose application for an increase in power rates by the B.C. Electric Railway Co.

To pay $143 for the survey of Goodacre Lake, just completed.

To confirm action of the public works committee in accepting a tender of Northern Electric Company Limited for poles and multiple relays at a cost of $2,340.

To authorize purchase of two conveyor belts for installation in the street sweeper at a total cost of $1,122.

Not to fill in Goodacre Lake, which would cost $10,000.

To approve increase of the taxi flag rate from 35 to 45 cents, at request of approximately 93 per cent of city taxi operators.

Mayor George appointed Ald. R. P. Macmillan to park committee.

Exile Government

BELGRADE (AP).—Yugoslavia's official press said today Ante Pavelic, under indictment here as a major war criminal, has set up an exiled Yugoslav government in Argentina.

The government newspaper Bora said the whereabouts and activities of Pavelic, Chief of the Wartime Ustachi Band which collaborated with the Axis, had been disclosed in a newspaper published in Argentina.

Yugoslavia claims he was responsible for the killing of some 700,000 Serbs during three and a half years of the Axis-sponsored "independent state of Croatia."

Annual meeting of the Victoria Chapter of the Multiple Sclerosis Society of Canada, originally set for Wednesday night, has been canceled, officers of the chapter announced today.

By ART STOTT

A friend of mine was talking to a New York visitor the other day and the New York visitor was complaining. "In this town," she said, "people don't seem to talk about anything but gardening." Then she asked, "What's your hobby?" My friend said, "Gardening."

The incident came to mind while Sam Weston was looking over the new rockery created around the B.C. Power Commission Building. Sam is very proud of the rockery. He said one of the leading gardeners hereabouts had offered the opinion it would be as pretty a showing as any in the city when the work was finished.

MAYBE THAT shows how right the New York visitor was. Only you can't go too far into gardening with the power commission chief. If you happened to point to a bronze shrub with a fig-tree leaf and ask if it were a cut-leaf maple, he'd look a little startled and admit he'd never seen one before. His job's power.

Still, what architects and landscape artists have done with that chunk of triangular, sloping rock between Blanshard, Burdett and McClure is a near miracle. You don't have to be a top-notch horticulturist to appreciate it. During World War I it was known as Hamilton's Folly when it came into the provincial government's hands in an expensive land deal. For a long time it was considered a certain site for a new courthouse—so long in the building. In the meantime it was a weed tangle and a place to throw odds and ends of rubbish, provided the police weren't looking. At a later date it was the potential site of a new Y.M.C.A. which hasn't been built yet. But as far as a lot of people can remember, it was useful only as a natural bleachers for non-paying patrons of baseball and exhibition soccer in the days of the old Stadium.

THEN THE architects moved in for the power commission. Bus patrons heading for Fairfield and points east, watched the construction job, the blasting and leveling and the concrete being poured. The building began to take shape. It looked functional, nothing else. Now it lifts up like a monument, and an attractive one. The skeptics passed snide cracks about the surroundings. The gardeners moved in and attended to that.

Employees of the power commission seem prouder of the rockery than they do of their new building. Just as the New York visitor said, people here like to talk about gardens.

The building itself has a lot of distinctions. It's probably the only one in town that has street-level entrances on each of three floors—one off each street. Up at the Times, we're interested in new buildings.

WE DON'T HAVE to be condescending to say the offices are attractive in the power commission building. They are. The chairman's quarters are unique. All his life, he says, he has wanted an office that wouldn't be cluttered up with files. He eliminated the appearance of them by making his room into an oval. He sits at one end with the concave wall behind him and files built into a cabinet that conforms. Swiveling in his chair he can pull out half a dozen of them—and they don't look like files.

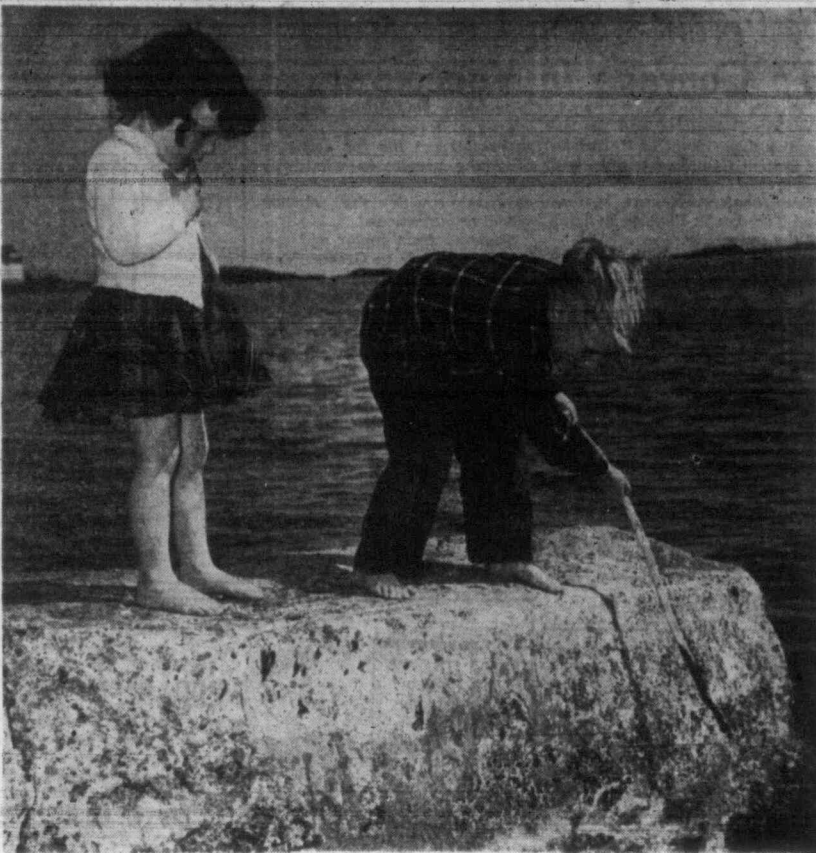

They're moving into the field of mechanical brains down there too. The business machine section, the way it was told to me, does everything but part the customer's hair.

I'VE BEEN READING about these perforated cards that carry addresses, provide the basis for punching out bills mechanically and are merely put through a machine for sorting, reclassification and filing. Down at the power commission they have a set of them on lease.

If you've mastered Einstein's theories, the operation should be simple enough to understand. If you haven't, you'll be satisfied, like me, to have someone explain that the cards are put in here, go through there, drop into these slots and here's your bill, all ready for mailing.

A friend of mine is toying with the idea of renting a truck and taking one home the next time he plays bridge. With it, he figures, he could have a perfect hand, and with a couple more shifts of knobs here and there, the machine might play it for him.

For guys like me, who never learned to play cards, that seems the ideal arrangement. It would leave the girls free to catch up on the gossip and swap stories without the interruption of the game in its present primitive form. At the same time, the men could retire to the kitchen and discuss the state of the nation until refreshments were served. Then everyone could get together and talk about gardening.

Kids At The Beach

Current summery weather has attracted Victoria's young folk to beaches. Coleen, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carlson wears expectant look as

THIEF TRADES TULIPS FOR $2

GRUBER ON VACATION

Singer's Version Of Ninth, Said 'Criminal'

Victoria Symphony Conductor Hans Gruber left by plane for Toronto this morning and a well-earned eight-week vacation. He is due back July 1 to start rehearsal for the annual summer school concerts, first of which is scheduled for July 10 at Victoria High School.

The dark, slender young maestro left for his vacation with assurances of solid support for his program of eight subscription concerts, starting next October. One-third of the house for next year is already sold out.

"Gruber's playing of Beethoven's Ninth, at the April 30 concert, was one of the best things that ever happened to music in Victoria," said symphony president Walter Stenner Tuesday.

"Hans completely vindicated his selection. The orchestra, chorus and soloists gave a memorable performance."

Heavy Piano Entry Opens Festival Play

By AUDREY SLD. JOHNSON
The Victoria Musical Festival continued into its third day today with a fourth adjudicator, Vilem Sokol, of the University of Washington College of Music beginning the hearing of instrumental classes at Canadian Legion Hall.

One of the longest piano classes in the festival—54 entries—was divided into two sections, the first of these being heard this morning, the second this afternoon. Six finalists will be heard tonight, three from each section. From the morning section, Theodore Normann selected Barbara Dickout, Aria J. Smalley and Pauline Beattie as finalists.

Other results include the last of the speech arts classes. In open, selected from the Bible, Cicely Ellis was declared winner with 90 marks. Second was Doris W. Hopkins with 85 and Mary Campbell, third, with 82.

In the class for public speaking, open, own choice, Kathryn A. Roberts took first, gaining 85 marks. Second was Mary Campbell with 84, and Grace Horgan, third, with 83.

Pianoforte, 13 years and under, Patricia Chatwin, 87; James Moore and Robert Readings (tied), 85; Patricia Hocking, 83. Composite school choirs, up to and including Grade 8, Willows School, first; Monterey School, second.

Three-Way Probe Opens Into B.C. Swindle Ring

A three-way probe by Victoria police, the Attorney-General's department and the R.C.M.P. unobtrusively swung under way today into an alleged $250,000 B.C. swindle ring.

The investigation was launched after Police Chief John Blackstock requested Attorney-General Gordon Wismer for aid in rounding up persons who have swindled numerous Victoria persons of life savings in the past 13 years.

Members of the Victoria Bar Association have also promised their co-operation in the probe. A disbarred local lawyer, Percival Walls, and Clyde Gillies, also of Victoria, have already been sentenced to the penitentiary in the case.

DATA GIVEN POLICE

Victoria fraud victims, including several elderly persons made destitute by smooth-talking operators, today began turning over full information to local police to start wheels turning in the Victoria probe.

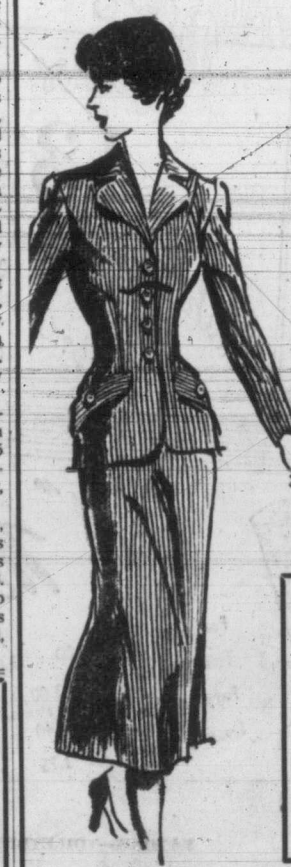

Four of the victims, William A. Scott, Mrs. Edith Bourne, Mrs. Elizabeth Page, all of Victoria, and Robert M. Betts, Sooke, testified Monday before the police commission, which ordered Chief Blackstock to get aid from Mr. Wismer's department.

R.C.M.P. officials were mum on their activities, but they are expected to work on the case throughout the province. Mr. Wismer is out of the city for several weeks on a speaking tour, and subordinates would not comment on the case.

Joseph Harris, 65, Victoria, was given a six-month suspended sentence for shoplifting from a department store. He was ordered to post a $500 bond to ensure good behavior.

Civilian Defence Attracts Hundreds

Co-ordinator Hatcher Pleased With Response; Sets Classes

One hundred volunteers for civil defence have already registered at the Government Street headquarters of the Greater Victoria Regional Defence Board, Leonard Hatcher, co-ordinator, disclosed today.

Canada Declared Free Of U.S. Policy Decisions

There is no question of the United States forcing Canada to agree to its foreign policies with regard to Russia and the Korean war, Stanley Woodward, U.S. Ambassador to Canada, told a joint luncheon group of the Canadian Club of Victoria and the Chamber of Commerce at the Empress Hotel today.

"We arrive at our joint position through co-operation and discussion, and even occasionally through disagreement," stated Mr. Woodward in his address entitled "Report from Washington."

The ambassador, who flew in from Vancouver this morning, was to leave late today for Ottawa, after having completed a cross-country tour of Canada.

Stating that United States foreign policy is based on a common idealism generated by the history and attitude of all Americans, Mr. Woodward said that to the outsider, and even Canadians, it often seems confused.

"When we debate and argue, we are following our chartered path of free expression for all views," he said. "Our foreign policy is consistent, because it is rooted in the consciousness of all the people. It is not subject to the whims of a few individuals."

With regard to Russia, Mr. Woodward said the "godless Soviet government had consistently opposed the efforts of the free world to achieve peace and prosperity."

"The Communist threat is a direct threat to our way of life," warned the ambassador. "We cannot permit ourselves to be lulled into complacency."

Mr. Woodward said Red China's entry into the Korean war was the "boldest and most dangerous move the Communists have yet made" and by that act had shown they were willing to push the world to the brink of a general war to get what they want.

The aim of U.S. foreign policy and other free countries was to prevent any third world war. Mr. Woodward's address will be rebroadcast over Station CJVI at 9:30 tonight.

While the exact number is not yet known, hundreds have offered their services through secretaries of various organizations and clubs in Victoria.

"We should have something definite in another few weeks," said Mr. Hatcher, who added:

"Response at this office has been excellent. People have offered unstintingly of their time."

Mr. Hatcher hopes to begin classes of 30 when Percy Sampson, instructor, returns from a course in the East late this month. The co-ordinator will take the first class himself. This will be for training of sub-divisional controllers, section leaders and post wardens.

"When we teach 30 of them we hope we will be able to send them out to start classes," said Mr. Hatcher.

Speaking to the Victoria Electric Club meeting at the Montevideo Tuesday, the co-ordinator stressed the need for co-operation between the warden and the people who serve with him.

Shipbuilders Plan Program

Current problems and future prospects of Canada's shipbuilders will be reviewed here starting tomorrow morning at 10:30 when top men of the industry gather at Government House for their annual meeting.

Those to meet in the two-day session are directors of the Canadian Shipbuilding and Ship Repairing Association. They represent 19 major shipbuilding yards on both coasts, the St. Lawrence River and the Great Lakes.

Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace, president of Burrard Dry Dock Co., Ltd., Vancouver, will be host to the conference.

AGED SHAWNIGAN LAKE WOMAN FOUND AFTER 24-HOUR SEARCH

Found late Tuesday night after a continuous 24-hour search by R.C.M.P. and South Vancouver Island Rangers, Mrs. Lena Cuzner, missing from her Shawnigan Lake home since Monday afternoon, was recovering today in King's Daughters' Hospital, Duncan.

William O'Toole, C.N.R. lineman, found the 71-year-old woman lying beside the track near Leechtown, eight miles from her home, in a dazed condition and suffering from a head cut.

More than 30 men took part in the search.

$1,000,000 Expansion For Dockyard Planned

The National Defence Department plans to spend over $1,000,000 to provide additional workshop facilities at H.M.C. Dockyard in Esquimalt, it was confirmed today.

The department plans to build a new electrical workshop, to cost in the neighborhood of $800,000, and a diesel engine workshop, to cost about $250,000.

It is understood plans for the new workshops will be drawn by the Victoria architectural firm of Birley, Wade and Stockill. The buildings will be of reinforced concrete construction.

The electrical workshop will be used for the maintenance of electrical and radar equipment. The diesel shop will care for marine engines of naval tugs and similar-sized vessels.

At the present time, working drawings are advanced for a new steel and concrete barrack block to be built at the naval training centre of H.M.C.S. Naden. Plans for this building, to cost $1,000,000, were announced by the Times early this year.

Local Hothouse Tomatoes Throw Prices To The Wind!

By PENNY SAVER

Not many of us take a Maytime sleigh-ride, but by gadfrey, hothouse tomatoes took a dilly of slide during the week-end. From 60 odd pennies a pound, they sped down to a quick stop at 40 cents ... with every possibility that cash-and-carry stores will offer the luscious salad favorite at 39 cents a pound, by this week-end.

Dispensing with a few pennies here and there will be radishes and local cucumber. Today, cucumbers were 29 cents each and radishes two bunches for 15 cents.

Thrifty Nitty

Fruit Salad Loaf: In a greased pan, alternate layers of orange sections, sliced bananas. Cover with orange & lemon gelatin. Chill until firm.

Beautifully crisp and fresh were the bunches of leaf lettuce displayed this morning at 15 cents each. Made your mouth water to look at the deth things. Green peas, in greater quantity, range in price from 17 to 20 cents a pound.

Watermelon continues to slip down just a penny at a time, mind, but a penny all the same. Today they were being weighed and wrapped at 14 cents a delicious pound.

Potatoes continue at five pounds for 25 cents ... a really good price ... cauliflower, 19 cents each ... green onions, 10 pennies a bunch ... tube tomatoes, 23 cents a package, and rhubarb, local that is, a pound for 10 cents.

There was a sprinkling of strawberries, and no wonder there was only a few of the expensive charmers, at 50 and 55 cents a basket!

Corn in most shops were averaging about 10 pennies a piece ... and believe me, its nice corn they're selling ... canteloupes from Mexico, and 35 cents each to buy, by the way ... the marble-sized tomatoes, also local hothouse, 29 cents a pound.

Valencia oranges have arrived in good form and are displaying a 35 cents a dozen placard ... the navel variety 49 cents a dozen ... grapes from "Down Under" four pennies less than the navel oranges ... winesap apples offer excellent quality and still good quantity at three pounds for 32 cents; that goes for Newtons, too.

On the local scene we have spinach, a pound for 25 cents and asparagus 28 pennies a pound. Avacadoes up and pushed their price tag to 25 cents each ... pineapples, sitting fast, at 95 cents each ... snowy-white leeks two pounds for 25 cents.

There should be a shipment of B.C. asparagus in this week, so keep them baby-blues wide open. From the frost waters of B.C. come ... magnificent salmon and from 28-cent tins come salmon and rice croquettes to fill a quick menu. With touch of lemon or tomato sauce added the six croquettes make a tasty dish.

New Members Welcomed

New members welcomed to Junior Auxiliary, Royal Jubilee Hospital, at their recent meeting, were Mesdames Gordon Root and Harry Kingsley.

Mrs. C. Brown, convener of Thrift Shop, reported children's clothes were needed, also a baby's layette. Mrs. T. W. Walker, home visiting, distributed last month's bouquets of lily of the valley donated by Mrs. Maynard.

Miss Barbara Bullock-Webster reported daily visits to eye ward read to patients and stressed need for more volunteers to do this work. Mrs. W. Mearns, training school representative, announced a tea will be held at the home, May 26, to present gold cuff links to graduating class.

Mobile shop, convened by Mrs. R. O'Meara, needs more workers to keep shop operating five days a week. It was reported.

Croquet set and volleyball were donated to observation ward.

Financial advisory committee convened by Mrs. Den Acres recommended a sum of money be given Mrs. Mearns to cover chaperfield and chairs in reception room in preparation for 60th anniversary of Royal Jubilee Hospital training school.

Install Officers — Miss Olive Kirchin was installed president of XI Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, at meeting held in Neil Edwards clubroom. Vice-president is Doris Collings; treasurer, Joyce Richardson; recording secretary, Sylvia Lee; corresponding secretary, Fernie McLean; and extension officer, Mildred Hick. Cultural program, "Tools for the Art of Life," was conducted by Lois Moir. Alisa Campbell and Doris Collings. Plans were made for the garden tea at Aged Women's Home in June.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Thousands Are Slimmer Because Of Nine-Day Diet

Tomorrow you nine-day dieters will have poached or boiled egg for breakfast.

Tomorrow is the last day of my nine-day reducing diet. By now thousands of women are feeling slimmer than they did nine days ago.

What about you? Did you mean to start and procrastinate? Did you lose some of the menus? Did you start in and get side-tracked by a house guest and special entertaining or by sheer human weakness?

Women often write me asking how they can build up their will power so that they can stick to a reducing diet. The only answer I can give to that hundred-dollar question is to take a long look in a full-length mirror and then remember how you used to look.

The second step is to make up your mind. You yourself must know that you ARE going to stay with the diet. It is fatal to "fudge." If you have the attitude of taking just a bit of this or a bit of that which is not on your diet, you are sunk. Also, I think it is very helpful to know that you can lose a certain amount in a certain, short length of time.

That is the beauty of the nine-day diet. In a little more than a week you can lose from five to ten pounds, and if you are very much overweight you can give yourself an encouraging quick start on the long trek.

Now that so many of you have become slimmer perhaps you may be imbued with a desire for even more self-improvement. If so do this exercise daily. Stand tall. Lift your arms upward, overhead. Keep the arms in this position as you circle your trunk to the right. Make complete circles bending as far in each direction as possible. After a time circle to the left. If this exercise makes you feel at all dizzy, circle first in one direction and then in the other.

Steak and Salmon Tomorrow Here's what you who are on the nine-day diet get to eat tomorrow:

(Eighth Day)

BREAKFAST
One egg, poached or boiled
One thin dry slice of whole wheat toast
Coffee

LUNCHEON
One portion salmon
Celery sticks

One-half cup steamed carrots
One-half grapefruit

DINNER
Minute or club steak (small)
One-half cup string beans
One-half cup squash
One glass skimmed milk
Orange slices

If you have not stayed on the diet, have lost any of the daily menus, or would like to have them in a handy, pocket-sized booklet which contains suggested substitute foods, you may obtain it by simply sending 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

A Parent-Youth Conference To Convene In Vancouver

British Columbia Parent-Teacher Federation and the extension department of University of British Columbia will present a parents' institute and parent-youth conference next Monday and Tuesday in Physics Building at the university.

Guest speaker will be Dean Beuna Marks Mockmore, of Oregon.

Purpose of the conference is to provide an opportunity for parents and students to discuss matters of mutual concern.

Questions to be discussed include how can parent-youth relationships be improved; how can the opportunities for student participation in community affairs be encouraged; what are youth's own goals and how can parents co-operate in their achievement; what are basic causes leading to property destruction by youth; how can satisfying and constructive outlets be established for the activities of young people; in what way can parent-teacher associations co-operate with the student school organizations?

Students from junior and senior high schools in Greater Vancouver, New Westminster and Coquitlam will participate in the joint session for parents and youth, in general and small groups, on Monday from 1.30 to 4.

Not only parent-teacher members may attend this conference but also all interested parties interested in child welfare. Registration is in the Physics Building at the university, Monday from 9.30 to 10.

Mrs. Ernest Evans, Victoria, president, Provincial Parent-Teacher Federation, will welcome those who attend.

P.T.A. Notes

Langford—Following business session of Langford P.T.A. on tonight at 7.45, in the school, a quiz contest will be held.

North Ward—Mrs. G. Pottinger, past president, Victoria and District Parent-Teacher Council, officially opened the successful spring tea and sale of work held by North Ward P.T.A. recently. She was introduced by president Mrs. L. Kermode, who also received guests, among whom were John Gough, Miss M. James and Alderman Frank Mulliner. Program included choral numbers by pre-primary and grades four and six pupils. Conveners were Mesdames M. Lunt and M. Strong. A sum of $204.34 was realized. Mesdames A. Stevenson and G. Harris presided at the urns and serviteurs were Mesdames J. Work, M. Larson, N. Doak, C. Zabrick, M. Whitehead, E. McIntyre and M. Quessy. Stalls were convened by Mesdames G. Baker and L. Howard, sewing stall; Mesdames A. McLeod and A. Robertson, home cooking; Mesdames Sandelands and Creed, hot dogs; Mrs. E. Leask and S. Fuller, candy.

Strawberry Vale — "Preparing Your Child for School" will be discussed at meeting of Strawberry Vale P.T.A. tonight at 8 in the school. Miss W. Jacobson will be guest speaker. Also taking part will be Miss J. Swales, Mesdames K. Dillabough and G. McWilliams.

Doncaster-Cedar Hill—Regular meeting of Doncaster-Cedar Hill P.T.A. will be held Wednesday evening at 8, with installation of officers. Refreshments will be served.

TODAY'S RECIPE

ONIONS WITH CREAM SAUCE

One cup medium cream sauce, ¼ teaspoon spicy meat sauce, 6 small onions, cooked whole, 1 20-ounce can green beans, drained.

Make 1 cup of medium cream sauce using 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons of flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, a little pepper, and 1 cup of milk. Add the spicy meat sauce and blend thoroughly. Combine cream sauce, small cooked onions and the drained, canned green beans. Be sure its piping hot before it is served. A package of frozen green beans may be used instead of canned beans. Of course, they would have to be cooked before mixing them with the cooked onions and cream sauce. Yield: Six servings.

Convene Arrangements For Annual Linen Shower

Mrs. C. C. Annett is general convener of annual linen shower of Ladies' Auxiliary to Y.M.C.A. to be held tomorrow afternoon from 3 to 5 in the Mural Room at the Y.M.C.A. Mrs. H. Campbell, president, and Mrs. Annett will receive guests.

Presiding at the tea table will be Mrs. C. N. Chubb, Mrs. W. Gilmour, Mrs. C. C. Wyatt and Mrs. E. T. Kenney. Mrs. R. D. McCaw has arranged a short program.

Archivist Warns Material Resources Second, Spirit Of People Important

"Our first and greatest responsibility is to Canada," said Willard Ireland in his address "Canada at the Crossroads," at Victoria Women's Canadian Club yesterday afternoon in the Empress Hotel.

"The Canada I'm talking about is the people," he said, "for, after all, it is the spirit of the people that counts."

"It was an act of faith that drew this country together," he continued, "even though there were many nationalities and religions there was a common cause... the land and soil of Canada."

Reviewing the history of British Columbia in past hundred years, Mr. Ireland cited five characteristics of the people who made it possible for the amalgamation of the country.

"They had a sense of courage, enterprise, industry and a sense of justice and co-operation. The spirit in those people will never disappear—we dare not let it disappear," he said.

"Now that the house of Canada is built the physical building is finished," he said.

"We are in a new era, whether good or bad; we must make sure that we know where we are going and that we are prepared to pay the price, whatever it may be."

In concluding Mr. Ireland emphasized the need for Canadians to recognize the arts as part of Canada's great resources, because he felt it was not material resources that should be considered of greatest importance in this country.

He also pointed out the sociological change that has taken place, comparing spacious and gracious living in days of "plain hard work" with the present-day push-button way of life.

"You can't grow spirit by pushing buttons," he concluded. "It is something that has to come from within the people."

Mrs. W. H. Wilson presided and Mrs. R. G. McKee gave a vote of thanks to the speaker.

Spring Floral Setting At The Fourth Annual Cancer Dressing Station Tea

A lattice woven with Spring flowers in a garden setting created a floral background for the fourth annual tea sponsored by Victoria Cancer Dressing Station of Order of Eastern Star.

Mrs. Jessie Hitchens-Smith, past grand matron of British Columbia, after being introduced by Mrs. Doris Watson, director of station, officially opened the affair.

Receiving guests were Worthy Matrons D. Dalby, H. Fimbrow, P.

Levy, K. Speirs and J. Nellans.

Co-conveners were Sisters M. Bland and N. Rolfe, in charge of homecoming was Sister J. Earle, and receiving door receipts were Sisters E. Brown and S. Dave.

Head tables were covered with lace cloths and centred with bouquets of iris and tulips. Presiding at the urns were Sisters M. Davey, M. Cook, M. McPhee, E. McLagan, M. Gray, Mesdames M. Llewellyn, J. Manton and Miss A. Wyllie.

Proceeds from the tea will be added to the station's funds to further the work in making cancer dressings. These dressings are given free of charge to patients whose names have been secured from members of medical profession and V.O.N.

Victoria's Cancer Dressing Station started five years ago and at their year end in April a total of over 52,000 dressings had been made and distributed during that term alone.

Dogwood Tea On May 14

In conjunction with Hospital Week, members of the Women's Auxiliary to Veterans' Hospital have planned their annual Dogwood Tea for Wednesday, May 14, at the hospital.

Guests attending the tea will be privileged to make a tour of the hospital and to see the new recreational bus which the auxiliary recently provided.

Mrs. R. H. Lott is convening the tea and there will be a home cooking and delicatessen stall.

Field Secretary Speaks To City's Nursing Group

"Trends in Nursing" was subject of the address given by Miss Gertrude Hall, R.N., general secretary of Canadian Nurses' Association, at a meeting of Victoria Branch, Registered Nurses' Association, yesterday evening at Nurses' Residence, Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Miss Hall was introduced by Sister Columkille of St. Paul's Hospital, Vancouver, president, Provincial Registered Nurses' Association.

Because there is not likely to be any great increase in the amount of professional nursing services due to the limitations of population, Miss Hall pointed out that "it is necessary for more effective use to be made of personnel now available."

Long-Standing Members Honored At Church Tea

Guests of honor at recent tea sponsored by Women's Union of First Baptist Church were ladies that had served in the church for 40 years or more.

They were Mesdames E. Middleton, J. Dunsmore, R. T. Elliott, A. E. Clyde, C. W. Bradshaw, G. A. Stevens, B. M. McCulloch, A. Middleton, R. M. McIntosh, J. Hamilton, G. A. Reynolds and W. P. Freeman. Each received a corsage bouquet.

The tea was held to mark the 75th anniversary of the church. Guest soloist was Mrs. A. Nash.

Tillicum—A successful Spring tea was held by Tillicum P.T.A. recently under convener'ship of Mrs. R. A. Bird. Miss E. Syvan presided at visitors' table and following stalls were operated: Mesdames R. Chatfield, D. Gardner and R. Conway, home cooking; Mesdames R. Campbell, K. Goyette and B. Prior, ice cream and candy. Grade VII girls served under supervision of Mesdames C. Vickery and J. Howell.

Prize Winning Exhibits

Two articles that won prizes for two members of Victoria Hand Weavers Guild at an exhibition of hand weaving in Montreal in April, will be on display with other pieces sent to the exhibit, at the 17th annual birthday tea sponsored by the guild.

The tea will be held next Saturday at home of the president, Mrs. Hazel Hodson, 403 Linden Avenue, from 3 until 5.30.

Winning pieces are a tray cloth and napkin in lay weaving that won for Mrs. Hodson a special prize for best article in the show and an apron for which Mrs.

Frances Clark got an honorable mention ribbon. Guild colors will be used for decoration at the tea and Mrs. J. L. White, first president, and Mrs. Sydney Pickles, immediate past president, will preside at the tea table.

If you're planning a shower for one of the season's brides elect, here is an easy dessert for it. Fill cream puff shells with a mixture of soft ice cream and canned fruit cocktail. To make it extra special top the whole thing with chocolate sauce.

Mrs. Harvey Heads Auxiliary To Veterans' Hospital Again

Mrs. R. D. Harvey was re-elected president at annual meeting of Woman's Auxiliary to Veterans' Hospital. Others elected were Mrs. W. R. Russell, first vice-president; Mrs. R. H. Lott, second; Mrs. J. S. Pells, recording secretary; Mrs. R. H. Peach, corresponding, and Mrs. Carew Martin, treasurer.

Main project during year was purchase and reconversion of recreational bus. Funds were raised by a series of tapering teas convened by Mrs. W. G. Colquhoun. With several donations the total was $2,542.

Mrs. Conway Pelly, retiring secretary, reported on year's activities which included 905 visits to the hospital. Special church services were held at Easter and Christmas and on both occasions recreation rooms and wards were decorated.

Toys were bought for veterans' children and gifts given to veterans. Entertainment and outings were also arranged.

Retiring treasurer Mrs. Geoffrey Homer showed receipts as $1,185.99 and disbursements, $1,016.11.

Five new members were welcomed, Mesdames S. M. Webb, D. A. MacDonald, J. W. Van Norman, Wallace Courtney, and Miss Jean G. Roberts, and one associate member, Mrs. A. H. Cox.

It was reported that seven paintings by Mrs. Ashley Garrod had been donated to the hospital by the artist.

Cadboro Bay Flower Show Presents Colorful Display

Artistic floral arrangements and perfection of blooms marked the annual Cadboro Bay flower show and plant sale, last Saturday afternoon in St. George's Church Hall, under auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Mrs. Ernest C. Carson, wife of the Minister of Public Works, opened the affair, and a sum of $250 was realized.

Cup for the finest bloom in the show was presented to Mrs. F. G. Aldous.

By popular vote, Mrs. Phillip Paskin won the cup for the most attractive arrangement in the show, for the third successive year. Mrs. Laura Cornish won the cup for the greatest aggregate of points for a second time. Judges were Mrs. Charles E. Wilson, Miss K. F. Ede, Messrs. Fred Saunders, M. Hamilton and John Kyle. Mrs. H. A. Chisholm was convener of the show.

U.S. WOMAN CLASS ONE DIPLOMAT

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman has nominated Frances E. Willis, Legation Counsellor at Helsinki, Finland, for promotion to Class One in the diplomatic service. She is the first American woman, State Department officials said, to reach that rank as a professional diplomat. Only the permanent rank of career minister is higher.

Canadian Leading Model In British Festival Show

LONDON (CP) — The Festival of Britain marks an unusual triumph for Pat Kerr, 23-year-old dark-haired model from Toronto. Six days a week for five months starting June 4, she will play the leading role in a fashion show designed to compare current styles with those of 1851.

Wearing a copy of the gown chosen by Queen Victoria for the opening of the 1851 British Exhibition, Miss Kerr will introduce a team of 12 girls at the festival gardens in London's Battersea Park, one of the main festival sites.

The strangest thing about Pat's appointment is that Britain picked a Canadian girl to model British fashions as part of a festival designed to exemplify the British way of life.

Her only worry is the weather. The gown worn by Queen Victoria had seven petticoats made from 100 yards of material, including linen, taffeta, net and lace.

"You can see it will be simply stifling if the weather happens to be hot," the Canadian girl said in an interview.

Dark-eyed Pat at 18 pounds is slimmer than the Queen who wore the original, meaning the dress must be carefully pinned and tucked.

The off the shoulder, pink-and-silver moiré gown was copied from a portrait and from details given in Queen Victoria's diary.

The dress and other 1851 designs were on display when Princess Margaret officially opened the festival gardens. Miss Kerr became a model by accident. Three years ago she came to London from her home in Toronto intending to stay with relatives for a year. Soon she became a free-lance model, then was offered a job as the first salaried mannequin in the city, London's financial district.

Ten Graduates, United Church

TORONTO (CP) — Ten young women were graduated from the United Church of Canada training school yesterday.

Members of the class include: Beatrice Winona Carkeek, Oshawa, Ont., who will do congregational work at Portage la Prairie, Man.

Florence Margaret Cochrane, Sturgis, Sask.

Ferne Evelyn Graham, Broadview, Sask., who will be missionary at large in the Yorkton area of Saskatchewan.

Anne Eileen Hannon, Moose Jaw, Sask., who will do church work at large in the Yorkton area of Saskatchewan.

Joy Kathleen Vickery, Calgary, who will serve at Naparima Girls' High School, San Fernando, Trinidad.

Maytime Bride-Elect Feted

A whirl of party dates continues to fill the pre-nuptial date book of popular bride-elect Miss Alma Homan, whose marriage to Mr. G. W. Creed takes place this month.

On Sunday, a cocktail party was given for Miss Homan by her co-workers of the criminal investigation branch, R.C.M.P., at the home of Mrs. C. McKay, McDonald Drive. Guests were Mesdames J. Rennie, G. Thom, H. Lyle, J. Spillar, S. Brain, Misses Thelma Brewer, Gwen Turner, Shirley Manson, Kay Graham, Pat Wickham and Susan Jackson.

Last week Mrs. W. Morrison, Mrs. S. Brain and Mrs. E. Bell were co-hostesses at a kitchen shower for the Maytime bride-elect. Corsage bouquets were presented to the honor guest, her mother, Mrs. F. V. Homan and Mrs. W. I. Creed, mother of the groom-elect. Assisting in pouring tea was Mrs. D. Mulligan. Guests were Mesdames M. Bell, R. Rose, A. Clemens, J. Dunkley, E. Huggins, A. Young, N. Sage, N. J. Edmonds, Misses Muriel Jennings, Eileen Harling, Pamela Morrison and Susan, Denny and Ritchie Bell.

A miscellaneous shower was given by Misses Doris Lancaster and Patricia Norton at the home of the latter, Monterey Avenue. Gifts were concealed in a decorated container. Guests were Mesdames B. F. Norton, S. Brain, D. Lee, H. G. Lancaster, Misses Lucy Carpenter, Dorothy Neate, Eileen Brinn and Doreen Rogerson.

Forests May Be Inflation Cure

By HARRY YOUNG, Times Business Editor

The one raw material of which Canada will never grow short, provided it is properly handled, is timber. The National Forest Conservation week to be held May 19-26 under the sponsorship of the Canadian Forestry Association is aimed to show how management and care of the forest lands will achieve the ideal of perpetual yield.

Endorsing the Conservation Week is Francis J. Winspear, the president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, who has a summer home on the Saanich Inlet and recently spoke to members of the local chamber.

Mr. Winspear considers that the problem of the 60-cent dollar and the rising inflation can be met only by increased production in various branches of Canadian industry.

"Forest products are a renewable resource," he said this week. "They can be produced perpetually on the same acre with good protection and management, and we have a better chance of doubling our production here than in almost any other basic industry while still keeping our capital intact."

Mr. Winspear, however, went on to point out that merely increasing the cut was not the answer. One tree in every five does not reach the lumber yard or paper mill because it is destroyed either by fire or insect.

One of the advantages to being an economist is that he follows a profession whose conclusions are not likely to be put to an immediate test. But when two economists clash so violently in their pronouncements it is time for the layman to wonder where he stands.

Several noted economists and industrialists have recently noted that Canada cannot play its part in the development of its natural resources and in the defence program unless its population is tremendously increased.

This, they say, can only be achieved by a high birth rate or by immigration, yet another economist, Wallace Goforth, of Toronto, has been declaring that "married women must be brought in to enlarge the labor force."

Mr. Goforth's method of achieving this end is to lower the income tax exemptions, put further crimps on installment buying, and make life so that one wage-earner per family is not enough to make ends meet.

It would therefore seem that if women are going to be forced into the labor market, the logical conclusion must be a decline—and perhaps a very sharp one—in the birth rate.

Over a period of years this would defeat the ends of the other economists who say that "Canada can justify her position among the nations of the world only if she can provide the population to handle her raw materials needed to fulfill world requirements."

In normal economies the employment of married women on an extensive scale can only be justified in a period of grave emergency such as existed in the 1930's. Mr. Goforth apparently did not consider this issue.

The speedy development of Canada's steel industry is shown by the first 1951 quarterly report of Atlas Steel. This Ontario company which manufactures high-grade steel has earned 85 cents per share in the first quarter, compared with 23 cents for the first quarter of 1950.

Typical meal for a woodman according to a report by the Canadian International Paper Co. and New Brunswick International Paper Co. is fruit juice, soup, two cold meats, two hot meats, salad, three vegetables, nine kinds of pie, molasses, syrup, jam, pickles, coffee, tea, milk.

The average woodman, goes on the report, requires 5,800 calories a day, which is twice the amount needed by an industrial worker.

A number of phone calls reached this morning asking how a Victoria firm was advertising yesterday car sales at one-third down and 24 months to pay, when the law says one-half down and 12 months to pay.

The answer is simple. The cars being advertised are commercial trucks and station wagons, which are not included in the credit control.

Station wagons are free from the credit control so long as they are going to be operated under a commercial license.

Big B.C. Search For Scrap Steel
VANCOUVER (CP).—Every corner of British Columbia is being scoured for junk metal to meet the needs of steelmakers.

The metal shortage is critical throughout Canada and the increased demand has brought about a big hunt for scrap steel. It brings $18 a ton in truckload from the dealers and $21 in carload lots. In the east, prices reach nearly $30 a ton.

Some Vancouver firms are melting such things as lathe shavings and sheet metal formerly regarded as useless.

Big Packard Profit
Packard Motor Car Co. has military business on hand of $250,000,000 but security regulations preclude a detailed breakdown, according to President Hugh J. Perry. The company today reports earnings of $2,499,973 for the first quarter of 1951. This compares with a loss of $259,586 in the first quarter of 1950, and is equal to over 165 cents per share.

Base Metals Slip

TORONTO (CP).—Prices were mixed in dull trading on the stock market today. Changes were in small amounts.

Industrials were fairly mixed with little feature. Agriculture, textiles, foods and retail stores showed a majority of losses.

Base metals slipped with a handful of small declines. Ascor Metals, a feature yesterday, was extremely active and lost pennies.

Consolidated Smelters, Falconbridge, and other base metal companies were mixed.

Britalta And Federated Lead Oil Market Higher

VANCOUVER — Western oils made another advance today with Britalta leading the way with a jump of 15 cents to a new high of 2.80. Federated at 8.70 was up 30 cents, and Home gained an eighth at 15 1/2. Others to improve were Allied 1.30, up 2 cents; A.P. Con 47, up 2 cents; Dalhousie 45, up 3 cents and United 80, up 3 cents.

Chief feature among mines was Premier Border which traded actively around 38-39 cents to gain 4 1/2 cents from the overnight close. Van Rai also put on 3 cents to .76, but otherwise there was little change in this section. Lower was Silver Standard at 2.33, down 5 cents.

Canadian Western Lumber added a fraction at 8 1/2, while Canadian Collieries remained at 4.70.

Gains Outnumbered
MONTREAL (CP).—Trading was moderately active and trends were mixed today.

Industrial gains and losses were about evenly divided near the close. Changes were mostly narrow fractions, but some advances ran up a point or more.

Many leaders held unchanged. Losses outnumbered gains by a fair margin in the papers, but senior metals and senior oils were firmer. Utilities and banks were narrowly mixed.

Beverages, carriers, chemicals, constructions and millings were up, while steels and investments were mixed and textiles off.

Among featured gainers were Rolland Paper up two points for a new high of 21. Dryden one to 37, Dominion Bridge one to 66 and Canada Cement 7 1/2 to 71.

Mines and western oils were irregular. McIntyre rose 75 cents to $62.25, Dome was up 50 cents to $17.25 and Federated Petroleum rose 40 cents to $8.70, while Quebec fell 75 cents to $24.75 and Steep Rock was down 35 cents to $8.35.

BIG DEFENCE ORDERS SAID COMING SHORTLY TO B.C.

British Columbia may soon be getting its share of the big defence contracts that so far have been going almost entirely to eastern manufacturers.

This is the opinion of George W. Sweny, Vancouver business man who organized war production here in the Second World War, is president of the Vancouver Iron Works, and chairman of the B.C. section of Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

He had just returned to Vancouver after paying a visit to Production Minister C. D. Howe in Ottawa.

Premier Border Finds Ore On New Low Level

Report from the Premier Border Mine on the Portland Canal in Northern B.C. indicates that the former gold and silver mine is drilling out base metal ore at a level below that at which the mine's mineralization zone was believed to have bottomed.

Another deep diamond drill is reported to have cut the downward continuation of one of Premier Border's best lead-zinc-silver ore bodies on the horizontal about 200 feet below the bottom or sixth level.

The assays have still to be reported but the values at depth are believed to be chiefly in lead and zinc rather than in gold and silver.

This new ore, together with the ore already being extracted from the higher levels, will be milled by the nearby Silbak Premier Mine, whose mill of 600 daily tons capacity has been working at less than half its capacity.

The milling arrangement with Silbak Premier is on a 50-50 basis, and it is expected that the spare milling capacity will soon come into operation as the various developments in the district, which also include Indian Mine, get into production.

The news from the mine excited interest on the stock exchanges across the continent and the share of Premier Border today were traded as high as 38 cents. Before the new development in base metals was reported some weeks ago, the Premier Border shares stood around 12 cents.

Two Gassers Brought In At Peace River
Two natural gas producers in the Peace River area of north-western Alberta and one gasser in the Jumping Pound sector, 20 miles west of Calgary, were among wells completed last week.

A well drilled by Imperial Oil Ltd., in the Little Smoky Lake area, 200 miles northwest of Edmonton, produced a natural gas flow of 10,000,000 cubic feet daily.

Pacific Petroleum completed a successful extension gas well in the Valleyview area of the Peace River region while Shell Oil Co. brought in another gas producer at Jumping Pound.

Scoury Oils Ltd. and associates completed their fourth venture in the Redwater area. Production tests at Scoury-Jones-Anchor No. 4 indicated an initial open-flow potential of 1,200 barrels of oil daily.

In the Acheson-Stony Plain area a large flow of natural gas was received at Royalty Oil Company's Royalty-Stony Plain No. 2 well. A test produced gas at the maximum rate of 3,500,000 cubic feet daily. Drilling is continuing.

The first 124 days of this year have seen 334 wells completed. They include 241 oil wells, 13 gas wells and 80 failures.

PRODUCTION LOWER
Production of crude oil in Alberta during the last week in April was down more than 20,000 barrels daily.

Daily average production for the week ended April 30 amounted to 60,904 barrels against a daily average of 82,071 barrels set during the week ended April 23.

It is believed the decreased production resulted from field cutbacks to hold the production average for the month under the daily average allowed by the Oil Conservation Board.

Production came from a total of 2,214 wells, an increase of seven over the previous week. Redwater, usually the largest field producer, accounted for most of the decrease as its daily average fell from 35,269 barrels to 18,890. Leduc was the leading field with a daily average of 22,680 barrels.

"Legally," the commission said, "this becomes the opinion of one woman against the opinion of the many who saw the gun in Mr. Braid's hands. And there may be people—let's face this matter, Miss Merridew—who would believe that your anxiety to save Mr. Braid had colored your imagination."

She said very quietly, "Yes, I realized that."

The Commissioner looked out of the window, a shaft of sunlight sharpening his strong features as he did so. He was accustomed, perhaps too accustomed, to these pleas and entreaties. But there was something in this girl's story that in its very simplicity rang true.

"Miss Merridew, a Commissioner of Police is not in any position to make a bargain—but I'm going to do the next best thing. I'm expecting word from Esquimalt late this morning—so if you wish you may call back here late this afternoon. If Mr. Braid has not been escorted by that time to one of the men o'war, I think we can arrange for you to see him for a few minutes. I'd like it to be understood that your visit is purely personal. In any case, I'm sure if you reflect on it you wouldn't wish to tell him about what you saw until you can prove it. There are few things worse than raising the hopes of a prisoner without much chance of fulfilling them."

"What time may I return, sir?"

"About five o'clock."

"Thank you."

She rose to leave; found to her surprise as she stood up that she was absurdly weak. The Commissioner said, "The Superintendent up at the hotel is making a thorough investigation of all those members of the theatrical troupe who were on the stage last night. It's possible he may uncover some evidence concerning the man you saw."

Plan New Clinic On Cortez Island

CAMPBELL RIVER—A new building with an emergency ward for patients waiting to go to hospital, offices for a doctor and dentist, utility room, and quarters for a nurse will be built by B.C. Coast Mission at Whaletown, Cortez Island.

An anonymous $1,000 donation, a provincial government grant, and contributions from Cortez Island residents helped provide the $6,000 required for the building.

Restrictions To Remain On Playlot

Esquimalt Council has decided that age restrictions should be maintained to keep children over 12 out of the children's playground next to 1037 Lyall. Council was faced with two opposing petitions: One, signed by 17 persons, requested restrictions be removed; the other, signed by 49 persons, asking that restrictions be maintained to preserve the playground for tots.

"Oh, I pray so, sir. Surely at least one of them may have seen him?"

"Now listen to me carefully, Miss Merridew. At the moment you're the only one who saw this thing happen. It's probable that the man you saw is still somewhere in port. If you should be able to find him, or any evidence of his whereabouts, bring me news at once. I realize you've very little to go on, but on the other hand, it would be useless for me to send a Constable with you—the man would take to flight at sight of him. And that's not difficult in the crowds just now. Have you any friends who could help?"

"I think so, sir. I'd prefer, though . . . to do anything I can alone."

"Well—I wish you good fortune! And when you return here this afternoon, before seeing Lieutenant Braid, if he's still with us, the Superintendent will also take your statement."

"Yes, sir."

"When you come in, you said there were two things you wanted to ask me, Miss Merridew."

"The other was about the children. Were any of them reported hurt, sir? I've not had time to make inquiries of any of the parents."

On that score he could give her positive comfort. "Well, there's at least one thing about which you needn't worry yourself, Miss Merridew. Miss Amelia Murray appears not only to have kept her own head, but everybody else's, too. Every one of those children, as far as we're aware, reached home safely, none the worse but for a bad fright. And children forget quickly. I assure you they do. Time's a wonderful restorative!"

A surge of her native courage came up in her with the lifting of this load from her shoulders. Almost as if her mother had been standing beside her, telling her what to do, how to behave in this situation, she could face it now, and with God's help she would do it.

"Thank you, sir, for your patience and your encouragement. I shall be back again this afternoon."

He took her proffered hand and bowed in courteous sincerity over it.

"And again—good luck, Miss Merridew."

She walked out of the room and down the corridor. As she stepped out into the morning sunlight with a firm stride, there was a new confidence in her eyes.

AMMONIATED LISTERINE TOOTH PASTE designed to help prevent decay 3 ways!

In preliminary tests conducted with this famous formula at the University of Illinois Foundation, case after case of reduction in the incidence of tooth decay was reported. No wonder it has caused such interest in dental circles! Now the manufacturers of Listerine Antiseptic make this same formula readily available to you and to your family.

Use Listerine Ammoniated Tooth Paste regularly, as directed, morning and night and right after eating. Lambert Pharmaceutical Co. (Canada) Ltd., Toronto.

1. Chemical action reduces mouth acidity. Mouth acidity encourages decay.

2. Mechanical action cleans surfaces as teeth are brushed—helps break up and remove decay-breeding deposits.

3. Chemical action checks acid-forming bacteria—a major cause of decay.

Gadsden Wants Helicopter Landing Stage On Roof On New Post Office

A helicopter landing stage on the roof of the Post Office for future use in moving mail and in event of disaster was recommended to City Council Tuesday by Burgess J. Gadsden.

Mr. Gadsden, a former alderman and the city's representative on the British Columbia Aviation Council suggested the helicopter stage in a letter, in which he reported on the recent Air Industries and Transport Association of Canada semi-annual meeting.

He stated helicopters were being used by a number of post office buildings in larger North American cities.

He spoke of the "large place" light aircraft will be filling in event of a disaster.

"It was explained (at the meeting) that the light aircraft will be the eyes of civilian relief organization in case of bombing," Mr. Gadsden said. "They will report traffic jams, fires and be of invaluable assistance in many other ways."

Private light aircraft owners here could fill an important place in event of emergencies, he felt.

In cases of urgency, landings could be made at the Gordon Head former airport site, rather than Patricia Bay, he said.

Freight Wreck Blocks Main Line

Pennsylvania Railroad's main line was blocked Tuesday when 17 cars of 143-car freight train jumped tracks. No one was reported injured. Most of tumbled cars, en route from Washington, D.C., to Jersey City, N.J., were refrigerator units carrying vegetables and produce which was strewn along track. (AP Wirephoto.)

Duncan To Get Own Bus System

DUNCAN—Starting June 15, Duncan will have its own bus system for the first time in its history.

General superintendent of Vancouver Island Coach Lines, G. G. Parrott, and manager of the company's Duncan depot, Vic Downard, met Tuesday with City Council.

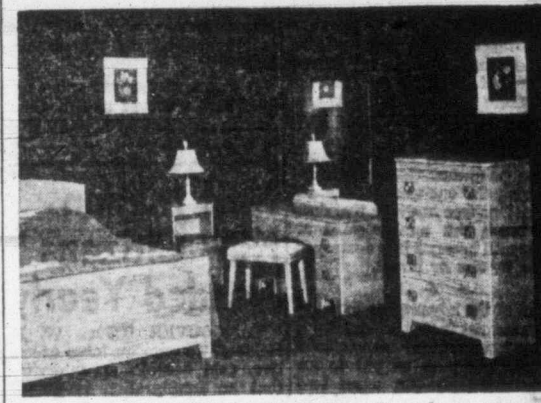

Plans are for one bus to make six round trips a day, starting at 8:15 in the morning and ending at 5:55 in the evening, were approved by Council, and now need only the sanction of the Public Utilities Commission.

BEDTIME STORY

by Thornton W. Burgess

Who acts in haste will likely rue
The things that he has tried to do.
— Flip the Terrier

It was all started by two silly Hens in Farmer Brown's henhouse. Each had laid an egg and each had to boast about it at the top of her voice. Each had to tell all the world within hearing that there was a freshly-laid egg in that henhouse. Had you been there and heard those Hens you might have thought that that they had done something no Hens had ever done before, when those same Hens had done that very same thing over and over again before. Some folks are like that, seeming to think that whatever they do, no matter how often they do it, is wonderful, something to boast and brag about, just like those Hens. Hens are silly things.

Now newly-laid eggs are very good eating, very good, indeed, as I know you know. A lot of people think so, are fully agreed on this. So when those silly Hens began boasting of what they had done, a number of ears were pricked up to listen.

Over in the Old Pasture Reddy Fox listened and grinned. It was a rueful sort of grin. He would have liked those fresh eggs. He would have liked them very much, indeed. But he knew he couldn't get them. He couldn't get into that henhouse where those eggs were. So after listening a moment or two, he muttered, "Silly things!" and went on about his business.

Over in the Green Forest Bobby Coon was just climbing up to his home in a hollow in a big tree. He had been out all night. In his doorway he paused to listen. "If it were dark I would go over there and see if there was any way of getting into that henhouse, but it won't do to try that in broad daylight. Anyway, I'm sleepy," thought he, and disappeared through the doorway.

Also over in the Green Forest was another listener. It was Redtail the Hawk. He was just preparing to start out to look for a breakfast. He spread his big wings and headed straight for that henhouse. No, he wasn't hoping to get those eggs. He wasn't interested in those eggs directly, but he was indirectly. He was reminded that he hadn't visited that henhouse or henyard since he arrived, and in other years he had caught more than one good meal there, and not chickens either.

Jimmy Skunk, ambling home to sleep the day away for he, too, had been out all night, was also reminded that he had often had good hunting there and might again. So Jimmy hesitated and finally turned that way.

henhouse had been left open and already some of the Hens were out in the yard stretching their legs and waiting more or less impatiently for breakfast. Redtail the Hawk sat on top of a telephone pole at a corner of the henhouse, then darted across he looked to be a part of it. The Hens didn't notice him. He had arrived just before the first ones came out into the yard.

A half-grown young Rat crept out from under the barn, looked furtively this way and that way, then ran toward the henyard, keeping close to the barn, until he reached the corner. There he hesitated, then darted across to the henyard to a hole in the ground that had been dug under the fence and along under ground, for a little way. It opened near the middle of the yard. Cautiously the young Rat poked his head out. The Hens were all about, but none noticed him. He saw that the little door to the henhouse was open. He knew that somewhere inside were the eggs he had heard those silly Hens boasting of having laid. He darted across for that open door.

He didn't get there. From the top of that telephone pole Redtail the Hawk shot down into the midst of those Hens. Such a racket as followed! Hens ran frantically in all directions screaming at the top of their voices, scared almost to death. The door of Farmer Brown's henhouse flew open and out rushed Flip the Terrier. He was excited. Something was after his master's Hens! He tore across to the henyard, around a corner of it, and ran right into Jimmy Skunk. Such a mix-up! Such an awful mix-up! Shrieking Hens. A yelling little dog rubbing his face in the grass! Indignant Jimmy Skunk stamping his feet! A dreadful, dreadful smell. Redtail the Hawk flying away with his breakfast! And all because two silly Hens had each laid an egg and then boasted about it.

L.R.B. Called 'Gestapo' By C.C.L. Members

VANCOUVER (CP). — British Columbia's Labor Relations Board Tuesday night was called the "political Gestapo of the Coalition Government" in radio addresses by two Canadian Congress of Labor unionists.

George Home and Jim Bury charged that the board is being used as a political weapon by "the directors of the Coalition Cominform" to block C.C.L. unions because they support the C.C.F.

Home is secretary of the B.C. Federation of Labor, while Bury is secretary of the Vancouver Labor Council.

This address followed the Labor Board's decision to not interfere in the union jurisdictional dispute at the Trail plant of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company.

The L.R.B. announced Monday it would not reconsider its decision rejecting the application of the United Steelworkers of America (C.C.L.) for certification as bargaining agents there.

Bargaining authority at present for the 4,000 workers at Trail is the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (I.M.S.W.), expelled from the C.C.L. two years ago and from the C.I.O.

"... the real implications behind this ruling are purely political," Bury said.

"Attorney-General (Gordon) Wismer has made it clear that he realizes the importance of the C.C.L. unions' support to the Opposition candidates in the Provincial elections."

Yacht Club Sets Season Opening

The summer sailing season for the Capital City Yacht Club will get underway Saturday, May 19, when more than 150 persons are expected to participate in the club's season-opening events scheduled for the afternoon and evening. About 40 boats will take part in the annual sail past.

Social activities will also begin May 19 with a dinner-dance for club members and friends at Genoa Bay Lodge.

Named Rotary Head

Rotarians of British Columbia, Alaska and Washington elected James Lightbody, Vancouver, as their district president at a three-day convention held in Seattle. Forty-two local members attended.

Full Mobilization Would Hit Alberta Production

EDMONTON (BUP). — A mass call to arms across Canada would create a serious labor shortage and retard local production in Alberta, a survey disclosed today.

Even under present conditions Alberta farmers have been forced to revamp their farming methods to cope with a labor shortage, O. S. Longman, deputy minister of agriculture, said in an interview.

Deputy industries and labor minister J. E. Oberholtzer said Alberta's industrial development clouds the picture so far as the labor supply is concerned.

"There is now a nice balance between the labor supply and demand. However, Alberta is passing through a transition period of industrial development that makes the future uncertain," he said.

He said the same doubt exists all the way across Canada, where industrial development has been a product of the postwar period.

Alberta's development has been more rapid than most provinces, due to the great forward strides in the search for oil and gas. Alberta's labor force was estimated recently at 350,000 men, nearly half of them farm workers.

Oberholtzer said importation of labor may be necessary to keep pace with the industrial expansion, which some day may make Alberta more of an industrial than an agricultural province than at present.

"The difficulty of obtaining adequate labor is modifying the design of our agriculture," Longman said. "We are devoting more attention to wheat production and grass fed cattle production."

"These enterprises require a minimum amount of labor and at the moment are providing the maximum return to the land owner, while farm enterprises such as dairying, hog production and poultry production are suffering."

Longman listed these reasons for the "increasing difficulty" in obtaining sufficient farm labor:

1. Rapid industrial and urban development.
2. Higher wages and shorter hours of employment for urban workers.
3. Provision of workmen's compensation, medical aid, pension payments and unemployment insurance for most workers but not those on the farm.

Human Rights Bill To Be Discussed

OTTAWA (CP). — Prime Minister St. Laurent promised Tuesday to take up with the Cabinet the question of a Canadian declaration of human rights.

That was the answer he gave a delegation of 95 men and women representing a broad cross-section of Canada, which presented a brief seeking governmental action for a "declaration of freedom."

The brief supported the Senate's recommendation last year that Canada should have a national bill of rights written into the constitution. Until this constitutional change could be made, the Senate said the Government should adopt a declaration modeled on the United Nations' universal declaration of human rights.

The delegation urged the Government to act now on these proposals.

Professor A. R. M. Lower, noted historian and professor at Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., said he believed Communists would be less dangerous at liberty than behind bars.

DOCTOR SAYS

By Dr. Edwin P. Jordan

We keep learning new things about diseases which afflict the human body and diseases which were not even known a generation ago keep cropping up to plague us. For example, the catarrhal jaundice of 20 or 30 years ago, which was thought of as a sort of irritation of the bile passages, has become known as infection of epidemic hepatitis. It is recognized as a virus disease attacking the liver, and accepted as a serious health problem.

There are some peculiar things about this disease. It caused a good deal of trouble during World War II and at times a good many men were laid up with jaundice. The virus responsible is present in a good many places and has been carried by blood transfusion, hypodermic needles and recently infections have been reported from tattooing.

Fortunately, the vast majority of those who acquire this infection recover without any apparent serious after effects. The acute illness, however, is unpleasant and is almost always accompanied by fever and the typical yellow color of the whites of the eyes and the skin.

It takes a while—often several months—to recover. Rest in bed combined with the proper diet has to be kept up for a long time. A curious thing about it is that it is almost impossible during the active stage to take any alcoholic drink because the liver has apparently lost its ability to handle this substance. Anyway, alcoholic liquors should be strictly avoided in this illness.

CHRONIC FORM

A few victims of infectious hepatitis seem to develop a chronic form of the disease which keeps them below par for a long time. There isn't any highly successful treatment for this but care in diet and attention to the general health are necessary for a long time.

Unless some drug comes along which will act on the virus where it lies in the liver, the best line of attack is prevention. The spread through blood transfusion and needle has been pretty well licked and so have some of the other sources of infection.

But one has to be on one's toes all the time for new sources of spread—witness the tattooing angle.

City Boasts Own Lab For Gravel Tests

City public works department has its own testing laboratory for grading of gravels, particularly for asphalt work. City Council was advised Tuesday by City Manager Cecil Wyatt.

Council were discussing purchase of asphaltic materials, when Mr. Wyatt referred to the laboratory. "When we moved the public works building from Yates Street to Garbally Road we set aside one small room for a laboratory," City Engineer Cyril Jones explained.

He said the room was only for simple tests not requiring elaborate apparatus. "If the need arises we will expand, but we don't anticipate any elaborate research work," said Mr. Jones. "It is good business to have some place where we can make simple tests."

CAVALRYMEN ARE DONKEYS IN MULE CASE

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA
(AP)—Stories of captured Chinese mules kept coming back to headquarters. When the latest batch of about 20 was reported, the general went up to the line to see for himself.

He came back blushing. "What has our outfit come to?" he lamented.

"I saw those critters and there wasn't a mule in the lot. They were just little donkeys—our men didn't know the difference."

The general is Maj. Gen. Charles D. Palmer. His outfit, the 1st Cavalry Division, which also serves for its horsehead insignia—now is a mechanized infantry force.
